

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

INTRODUCTORY.

This book is designed to teach bookkeeping as it is practiced by the best business houses. We have no apology to offer for the innovations in methods, or the deviation from the school forms of balance sheets, statements, loss and gain accounts, etc. We believe the time has arrived when all progressive teachers will welcome practical business methods, even though they supplant long cherished school forms and practices.

In the compilation of this work we beg to acknowledge the courtesies and assistance extended us by Lord & Taylor, New York; John Wanamaker, New York and Philadelphia; Park & Tilford, New York; Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia; Gimbel Brothers, Philadelphia; Comptroller of Currency, Washington, D. C.; Assistant Secretary of the United States Treasury, New York, and of over a hundred other leading business houses and banks which have cheerfully permitted us to examine their books and whose head bookkeepers have furnished much valuable information.

TO THE STUDENT.

Accuracy is the first essential of business; without it you cannot hope to hold a paying position in the commercial world. Accuracy can be acquired only by painstaking, thoughtful work on your part from the start. Read carefully all instructions, and do just as you are told to do.

Do not make mistakes in simple mathematical operations. Errors in addition, subtraction and multiplication are inexcusable, and will not be tolerated in business. Verify all additions and multiplications. Know you are right before you go ahead.

Neatness and Legibility. A neat, legible style of handwriting which can be executed at a fair rate of speed, and absolute legibility in figures, are necessities in the modern office.

The acquirement of these attainments will necessitate constant practice on the part of most students. The script illustrations in the book are excellent models to follow. Do not allow yourself to do careless and slovenly work either in writing or in making figures.

Details. Inability to estimate the importance of a thorough mastery of details is the cause of more failures in life than all other causes combined. Learn to pay attention to the little things. Follow your instructions implicitly; do not be content with doing a thing nearly right, but do it exactly right. Remember, "Perfection is made up of trifles, but perfection itself is no trifle." The successful business man must master multitudinous detail.

MODERN ILLUSTRATIVE BOOKKEEPING.

Bookkeeping is the art, method, or practice of recording business transactions. There are two methods, termed Single Entry and Double Entry.

Object of Bookkeeping.—The object of bookkeeping is to enable the proprietor at any time to determine whether his business is being conducted at a profit or a loss, the sources from which the profits or losses arise, and to afford a record of all debts due and all property belonging to the business and a record of all debts due by the business.

Single Entry Bookkeeping usually provides for keeping accounts with persons only.

Double Entry Bookkeeping provides for keeping accounts with persons, property, expenses and allowances.

Books Required. The books required depend upon the nature of the business, but a complete record of any business may be kept in two books—the Journal-Daybook and the Ledger.

The Journal-Daybook. This book contains a record of each transaction as it takes place, and also the names of the accounts affected by the transaction, showing which accounts are debited and which are credited.

The Ledger. This book contains the names of all accounts occurring in the journal, with all debits from the journal carried to the debit or left-hand side of the ledger accounts, and all credits to the credit or right-hand side, so that a ledger account will show upon its face all transactions by which that account has been affected in the course of the business as recorded in the journal-daybook.

Auxiliary Books.—Every business will keep such auxiliary books of record as the nature of the transactions may require.

WORK FOR THE STUDENT.

No. 1.—Take a sheet of journal paper and carefully copy the model journal shown on pages 6 and 7, following carefully the script forms of both letters and figures.

No. 2.—Take a sheet of ledger paper and carefully copy the model ledger shown on pages 8 and 9, writing four accounts on a page. Be careful to make plain, neat figures. Make the ledger headings larger than ordinary writing, and see that each heading is written in the center of the page, so that the double lines which divide the page into two equal parts will come exactly, or nearly, in the middle of the heading.

Do your very best work both in the journal and ledger exercises, for they will not be accepted unless the writing is legible and neat, and the figures plain.

Present your work to your teacher for examination and approval.

WORK FOR THE STUDENT.

GENERAL RULES FOR DEBITING AND CREDITING.

Rule 1.—DEBIT what the business receives, or what costs value. Rule 2.—CREDIT what the business disposes of, or what produces value.

TO BE ENTERED IN THE JOURNAL-DAYBOOK.

Make the entries required by the following transactions similar in form to those shown in model journal-daybook on pages 6 and 7.

No. 1.—JANUARY 1, 190-. I (your name) engage in the Flour and Grain business, investing cash, $4000.

INSTRUCTIONS.—Whatever the business receives, or what comes into the business, should be debited; that is, it should be entered on the left-hand side of your journal-daybook. In this instance the business has received cash to the amount of $4000, hence Cash should be debited.

Whatever the business disposes of, or whatever produces value to the business, should be credited; that is, it should be entered on the right-hand side of your journal-daybook. In this instance the proprietor has produced, or given, value to the business to the amount of $4000 by making an investment, hence the Proprietor should be credited.

The following illustrates the form of the entry, though the amounts and explanation are different:

January 1, 190-

Cash	Commenced the	3500
F. W. Leonard	Flour and Grain
	business, investing
	cash.			3500

Make an entry in your journal-daybook according to the above form. Write your name instead of that of F. W. Leonard, and place $4000 opposite Cash, and $4000 opposite your name, instead of the amounts shown in model. The amount placed in the left-hand column of your journal-daybook should be the same as that placed in the right-hand column; in other words, your debits and credits should always be equal.

The name of the account debited is placed near the vertical lines at the left, and the amount placed in the left-hand money column.

The name of the account credited is written one line below the debit, and about three-fourths of an inch farther to the right. The credit amount is placed in the right-hand money column.

Rule 3.—Debit CASH for all cash received.

The term "cash" includes specie (gold, silver, nickel and bronze), treasury notes, national bank notes, gold and silver certificates, checks, post-office money orders, express money orders, bank drafts, and certificates of deposit.

Rule 4.—Credit the PROPRIETOR with all amounts which he invests in the business.

No. 2.—JANUARY 2, 190-. Paid J. C. Smith $75 for one month's rent of store.

INSTRUCTIONS.—Whatever costs the business value should be debited. In this instance you have paid $75 rent for the benefit of the business. Rent has cost the business value. It is an expense to the business, hence Expense should be debited.

Cash has been disposed of. It has produced value to the business; that is, it has been used by you to pay the rent of your store, hence Cash should be credited.

The following illustrates the form of your entry, though the amounts and explanation are different.

Expense	Paid B. W. Ames	100	100
Cash	January rent in cash

Before attempting to make the above entry, examine the model journal-daybook on page 6 so as to be sure of the form and arrangement. Do not copy the illustrations, but make entries similar to them. Your entries must be made for the transactions given, and your amounts must be the amounts given in the transactions, and not the amounts shown in the illustrations. Leave one blank line after each transaction, and write the date in the center of this line, using ditto marks if the date be the same as that of the preceding transaction.

Rule 5.—Debit EXPENSE for all expenses of the business.

The expenses of a business include such items as outlays for rent, postage stamps, stationery, fuel, light, clerk hire, etc.

Rule 6.—Credit CASH for all amounts which are paid out, or taken from the business.

No. 3.—JANUARY 2, 190-. Bought of Scrantom & Wetmore, books and stationery for office use, for which I paid cash, $15.

INSTRUCTIONS.—This transaction is of the same nature as the preceding one. Debit Expense (see rule 5); credit Cash (see rule 6).

In the right-hand half of the wide space in your journal-daybook is written a complete record of the transaction. This record should be as brief as possible, yet it must show exactly what took place, for should any dispute arise it is this record and not the journal entry nor ledger record that will be used as evidence.

No. 4.—JANUARY 3, 190-. Bought of the Upton Coal Co. for cash, for use in store, 5 tons of coal at $5.50 per ton; total, $27.50.

INSTRUCTIONS.—As the coal is to be used for fuel, it becomes an expense to the business. Make entry similar to transactions Nos. 2 and 3. Determine the debit by reading rule 5; determine the credit by reading rule 6.

No. 11.—JANUARY 6, 190—. Sold H. A. Harvey, for cash, 400 bu. oats at 35¢ per bu.; total, $140.

INSTRUCTIONS.—Make entry similar to preceding transaction. Determine the debit by reading rule 3; determine the credit by reading rule 8.

No. 12.—JANUARY 6, 190—. Sold W. D. Menter, for cash, 200 bu. corn at 40¢ per bu.; total, $80. (Entry similar to transaction No. 10.)

No. 13.—JANUARY 6, 190—. Sold J. B. Hamill, for cash, 200 bu. oats at 36¢ per bu., 100 bu. corn at 40¢ per bu.; total, $112.

POSTING.

At such times as may be convenient, the bookkeeper transfers the items from his journal (in which they have been entered daily as the transactions have occurred) to the ledger.

Transferring entries from the journal to the ledger is called "posting," and when completed all the debit cash items in the journal will appear on the debit side of the Cash account in the ledger, and the credit cash items in the journal will appear on the credit side of the Cash account in the ledger. (See Cash account in model ledger, page 8.) All debit merchandise items in the journal will appear on the debit side of the Merchandise account in the ledger, and all credit merchandise items in the journal will appear on the credit side of the Merchandise account in the ledger; and the same will be true of Expense account, the proprietor's account, and such other accounts as the business may have.

There is no stated time at which posting should be done. In the busy office it is generally done at odd times, when the bookkeeper is not otherwise occupied, but it must be completed at the close of each month, in order to take a trial balance.

When posting, the utmost care should be exercised that all debit items be carried to the debit side of the proper accounts in the ledger, and all credit items to the credit side of the proper accounts in the ledger.

It is quite a common error to post a debit item to the credit side, or a credit item to the debit side of an account, especially when the student is taught to post alternate debits and credits. The practical bookkeeper rarely posts in this manner, but instead posts first all his debits, then all his credits. As he is at all times posting to only one side of the ledger, he reduces to the minimum the danger of posting an amount to the wrong side of an account.

Opening Ledger Accounts.—Examine the model ledger on page 8, and notice the form and arrangement of the accounts. Take a sheet of ledger paper and open accounts as follows: At the top of the first page write your own name. (For form, see account of A. H. Harper in model ledger, page 8.) See that each name is in the center of the page. On the fifth line below write Cash; 12 lines below Cash write Merchandise; 12 lines below Merchandise write Expense. Number your journal page 1; number your ledger page 1.

SUCCESSIVE STEPS.

FIRST STEP.—All amounts in the debit money column of your journal are carried to the left-hand or debit side of your ledger. All amounts in the credit money column of your journal are carried to the credit or right-hand side of your ledger.

The first item on the debit side of your journal is Cash; the amount is $4000. Turn to the Cash account in your ledger and write the amount on the debit side of this account. Place the page of the journal (1) in the folio column of the ledger, and write the date on which the journal entry was made (Jan. 1) in the date column of the ledger, placing the current year above the first entry in the date column for the purpose of indicating the year. The following illustrates the form of your ledger entry.

Cash

1911	Jan 1		1	4000
------	-------	--	---	------	--	--	--	--	--

Next enter the page of the ledger (1) in the folio column of the journal. The following illustrates the form.

1	Cash	Commenced the	4000
	Student's name	Flour and Grain		4000
		business investing
		cash

In posting always place the number of the page of the journal from which the amount is posted in the folio column of your ledger, and place the number of the page of your ledger on which the account is written in the folio column of your journal. This is termed "postmarking."

SECOND STEP.—All the debits in your journal should be posted first, then the credits.

The next debit item in your journal is Expense; the amount is $75. Turn to your Expense account in the ledger and write $75 in the amount column. Place the page of the journal (1) in the folio column, and the date of the transaction (Jan. 2) in the date column. The following illustrates the form of your ledger entry.

Expense

------	-------	--	---	----	--	--	--	--	--

Place the page of your ledger (1) in the folio column of your journal. (For form of entry, see illustration of journal in first step; also see model journal on page 6.)

THIRD STEP.—The next item on the debit side of your journal is Expense; the amount is $15. Turn to the Expense account in your ledger and place the amount on the debit side, writing the page of the journal in the folio column of the ledger, and the date (Jan. 3) in the date column of the ledger. The following illustrates the form of the entry, showing the Expense account as it should appear in your ledger at the present time.

Expense

Jan	2	/	75
	3	/	15

Write the page of the ledger in the folio column of your journal.

FOURTH STEP.—The next item on the debit side of your journal is Expense; the amount is $27.50. Post this to your ledger, as previously instructed. The following illustrates the form of an Expense account with three items entered thereon.

Expense

Jan	2	/	75
	3	/	15
	3	/	27.50

FIFTH STEP.—The next item on the debit side of your journal is Expense; the amount is $10.50. Post as before to the left-hand side of Expense account in the ledger. Do not neglect to place the ledger page in the folio column of your journal.

SIXTH STEP.—The next item on the debit side of your journal is Merchandise; the amount is $530. Post this to your ledger as previously instructed. The following illustrates the form of the entry.

Merchandise

Jan	4	/	530

SEVENTH STEP.—The next item on the debit side of your journal is Merchandise; the amount is $300. Post this to your ledger according to previous instructions.

The following illustrates the form of the Merchandise account as it should appear in your ledger at the present time.

Merchandise

190-
Jan	4		/	530
	4		/	300

EIGHTH STEP.—The next item on the debit side of your journal is Merchandise; the amount is $175. Post this to the debit side of your Merchandise account.

The following illustrates the form of the Merchandise account as it should appear in your ledger at the present time.

Merchandise

190-
Jan	4		/	530
	4		/	300
	4		/	175

NINTH STEP.—The next item on the debit side of your journal is Merchandise; the amount is $255. Post this to the debit side of your Merchandise account.

TENTH STEP.—The next item on the debit side of your journal is Cash; the amount is $285. Post this to the debit side of your Cash account.

The following illustrates the form of the Cash account as it should appear in your ledger at the present time.

Cash

190-
Jan	1		/	4000
	5		/	285

ELEVENTH STEP.—The next item on the debit side of your journal is Cash; the amount is $140. Turn to the Cash account in your ledger and make entry on the debit side, placing $140 in the amount column, the page of your journal in the folio column, the date of the transaction (Jan. 6) in the date column. Place the ledger page in the journal folio column.

TWELFTH STEP.—The next item on the debit side of your journal is Cash; the amount is $80. Post this amount to the debit side of the Cash account in your ledger.

THIRTEENTH STEP.—The next and last item on the debit side of your journal is Cash; the amount is $112. Post this to the debit side of the Cash account, as previously instructed.

You should now have five items on the debit side of your Cash account; namely, $4000, $285, $140, $80, and $112. All the items on the debit or left-hand side of your journal have now been transferred to the debit or left-hand side of your ledger.

FOURTEENTH STEP.—As you have finished posting the debit items, you should next post the credit items of your journal to the credit or right-hand side of your ledger.

The first credit item in your journal is that in which you are credited with your investment, $4000. This should be transferred to your account on the credit side of the ledger. The following illustrates the form of the ledger entry.

Student's Name.

			Jan. 1					1	4000

Be sure to place the page of your ledger in the folio column of the journal immediately preceding your name.

FIFTEENTH STEP.—The next credit item in your journal is Cash; the amount is $75. Transfer the amount to the credit side of the Cash account in the ledger.

The following illustrates the form of the Cash account in your ledger as it should appear at the present time.

Cash

			1900
Jan. 1				Jan. 2
		1	4000					1	75
5		1	285
5		2	140
5		2	80
5		2	112

SIXTEENTH STEP.—Transfer the remaining credit items of your journal-daybook to your ledger. (For form of ledger showing accounts with several items entered thereon, see model on page 8.) The Cash account in your ledger will contain eight credit amounts, and the Merchandise account four credit amounts.

All the credit items of your journal have now been transferred to the credit or right-hand column of your ledger.

As the amounts in the debit and credit columns of the journal are equal, it is evident, if you have made no mistake in transferring the entries, that the amounts on the debit and credit sides of your ledger must also be equal; that is, that the sum of the amounts on the debit side of your ledger should equal the sum of the amounts on the credit side of your ledger. To ascertain if this is true, we take what is known as a trial balance.

TRIAL BALANCE.

Take a sheet of journal paper, write the words Trial Balance at the top, and under it, at the left, write the names of all the accounts that appear in your ledger, with the ledger page in the folio column. The following illustrates the form.

Trial Balance, Jan. 6, 190-

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ✓ A. H. Harper ✓ Cash ✓ Merch. ✓ Expense
---	--	--	--	--

The names of the accounts in the left-hand column must be the names of the accounts in your ledger.

The footing of the debit side of all the accounts in your ledger must be entered in the debit or left-hand column of your trial balance. The footing of the credit side of all the accounts in your ledger must be entered in the credit or right-hand column of your trial balance.

The first account in the ledger is the proprietor's (your own) account. There is nothing on the debit side, hence no entry will be made in the debit column of your trial balance. There is $4000 on the credit side of your account. Enter this amount ($4000) in the credit or right-hand column of your trial balance. The following illustrates the form; the amount is different.

Trial Balance Jan. 6, 190-

1 Student's name			3000
Cash
Merchandise
Expense

Find the sum of the several items on the debit side of your Cash account, and write the amount in small, light lead-pencil figures.

The following illustrates the form of a Cash account properly footed; the amounts are different from those shown in your Cash account.

Transfer the debit footing of your Cash account ($4617) to the debit column of your trial balance, writing the amount directly opposite the word Cash.

Foot the credit side of your Cash account and transfer the footing ($1388) to the credit column of your trial balance directly opposite the word Cash. The following illustrates the form; the amounts are different.

Trial Balance Jan. 6, 190-

1 Student's name			3000
Cash	4177		1631

Expense

Foot the debit and credit sides of your Merchandise account, writing the footing in lead-pencil figures, as previously explained. Transfer the footing of the debit side to the debit column of your trial balance, and the footing of the credit side to the credit column of your trial balance.

Foot the debit side of your Expense account, and transfer the footing to the debit side of your trial balance. There is nothing on the credit side of your Expense account. (For form of complete trial balance having amounts entered thereon, see below.)

Add both the debit and the credit columns of your trial balance; the footings should be equal. If the footings of the debit and credit columns of your trial balance are not equal, it is evident that an error has been made, and you should review your calculations and find the mistake.

The following is the form of a trial balance containing the same number of items found in your trial balance. The amounts are different.

DIRECTIONS FOR CHECKING FROM JOURNAL TO LEDGER.

In order to avoid mistakes in posting, many bookkeepers check every item from the journal to the ledger after it has been posted. As you have completed the posting for the month of February, you may check your entire journal to your ledger. On page 1 of your journal you find the item Cash, Dr., $2500. Put a small check mark opposite the $2500, as shown in the following form.

January 1, 190-

Cash	Commenced this	3500
F. W. Leonard	Flour and Grain		3500 business, investing
	cash

Turn to the Cash account in your ledger; the $2500 should appear as the first entry on the debit side of the Cash account. If you find it there, place a small check mark opposite the $2500 as shown in the following form

Cash

190-
Jan.	1	1	3500

Check all your debits first. See that each debit item in the journal has been carried to the debit side of the account named in the ledger, and place a check mark against each account both in the journal and in the ledger. Check the credit items in the same manner.

If any posting has been omitted, you will discover it in the checking; or if any item has been posted twice, or to the wrong side of an account, it will appear unchecked and will thus be detected. This process of checking requires a little extra time, but it prevents many errors in trial balances, and the student will find it a profitable exercise.

A hard, sharp-pointed pencil should be used for checking and for pencil footings in the ledger. Make your figures and check marks light.

No. 34.—Foot your ledger in light lead-pencil figures, as explained on page 19, and take off a trial balance, as explained on page 18. Your trial balance must show the footings of each account in your ledger. When accounts balance they should be omitted from the trial balance.

No. 35.—Submit your journal-daybook, ledger and trial balance to your teacher for examination and approval.

called a note. When these notes, or promises, are in favor of the business, they are called "Bills Receivable," and, like any other property, they are debited when received and credited when disposed of; hence in this instance Bills Receivable should be debited and Merchandise credited. Written promises to pay, given by you for the benefit of the business, are called “Bills Payable,” and, like any other property, they should be credited when issued or disposed of, and debited when paid or received; hence Merchandise should be debited and Bills Payable credited for the amount of the note. The following illustrates the form of your entry, though the amounts and explanation are different.

Indorsing a note consists in writing your name on the back of the note, about one and one-half inches from the upper end. The effect of an indorsement is to make the person who writes his name on the back of a note responsible for its payment in case the maker fails to pay the note when it is due. If the note is payable to order, the indorsement is also necessary for the purpose of transferring the title.

The following is a form of indorsement commonly used in transferring notes like that referred to in transaction No. 65.

Post from your journal, following directions for posting on page 13. Take a trial balance (see instructions below), and present your journal, ledger and trial balance to your teacher for approval.

In taking the trial balance, March 31st, you may write only the difference between the two sides of each account in the money columns of the trial balance. Pencil foot your ledger accounts as usual. On the larger side of the ledger account, in the explanation space, near the top of the account, write the pencil footing of that side of the account; underneath it write the pencil footing of the smaller side; subtract, writing the remainder underneath, and leave these pencil figures in your ledger. Carry this remainder only into the trial balance opposite the name of the account, and on the larger side. Use a hard, sharp-pointed pencil and make your figures small like all pencil footings. (See Cash and Merchandise accounts in model ledger, page 8, to show the method of finding the difference between the sides of accounts to be used in this form of trial balance.)

The following is a trial balance taken in this manner from the model ledger on pages 8 and 9.

DIRECTIONS FOR FINDING MISTAKES IN TRIAL BALANCES.

The debit and credit columns of your journal are equal. If the items are posted correctly, it is evident that the debit and credit sides of your ledger will also be equal. The debit and credit money columns of your trial balance should be equal, as the trial balance is made up of the differences between the debit and credit money columns of your ledger; but every bookkeeper finds from practical experience that errors occur, and it is by no means uncommon to find a difference between the debit and credit money columns of the trial balance when it has been taken off from the ledger.

If you have checked the items from the journal to the ledger, as directed on page 26, any mistakes in posting should be discovered, but many bookkeepers do not check, using every other means of finding mistakes before resorting to this expedient; for, in a large business, it is a considerable addition to the work of the bookkeeper if he is obliged to check all postings a second time.

The following directions will, it is believed, enable you to detect most mistakes.

1. Verify your additions, both in the trial balance itself and in each account in the ledger.
2. See that the subtraction has been correctly performed in finding the differences between the sides of the ledger accounts.
3. Find the exact amount of the difference between the two sides of the trial balance. Look through your journal and see if any such amount appears in either column of the journal. If you find the amount, it has very probably been omitted in the posting and will rectify the error.
4. Look in the journal for an amount equalling half the difference between the two sides of the trial balance. A debit amount of half the difference posted to the credit side, or a credit amount posted to the debit side of the ledger would give the amount of the difference.
5. See if the difference between the sides of the trial balance is divisible by 9; if so, it is probable that figures have been transposed in posting, e. g., 39 posted as 93. There is no method of locating such an error except by checking.

Finally, if the error is not discovered by any of these methods, it is necessary to check from the journal to the ledger. In doing this work be sure that you check in both books. If this is carefully done errors must be detected.

STATEMENT.

In addition to keeping accounts, the bookkeeper must be able to show at any time whether the business is profitable or unprofitable, and from what sources (accounts) the gains and losses arise. This is usually done at stated periods—generally yearly—by making a statement which shows in detail just what property or resources the business has on hand, what debts or liabilities it has outstanding, what gains it has made, and what losses it has sustained. From this material it is easy to show the present standing or worth of the business, and determine whether it is prosperous or unprosperous, as well as to indicate the sources from which the gains arise or the losses occur.

The first step in making out a statement is to take an inventory of the property on hand.

INVENTORY.

An inventory is a list of unsold merchandise and other property on hand at the time the statement is rendered. Since Merchandise is debited when bought, and credited when sold, it is evident that the value of unsold merchandise must be ascertained before it can be determined whether there has been a gain or a loss. A complete list of every article of merchandise is taken and kept in a book or on sheets, with the value indicated. The cost price of merchandise is generally assumed to be the value of the goods unless there has been a decided rise or fall in the market price since the articles were purchased. By comparing the purchases and sales in your journal, it is found that you should have on hand the following.

INVENTORY, MAR. 31, 19—.

2830 bu. Corn,	35¢,	990.50
1250 " Oats,	30¢,	375.
400 " Rye,	55¢,	220.
213 brls. Flour,	3.90,	830.70	2416.20

CLASSES OF ACCOUNTS.

Every business will contain two classes of accounts, which may be called Accounts of Business and Accounts of Finance.

Accounts of Business are those accounts which indicate a gain or a loss to the business, such as Merchandise, Expense, Interest, Discount, Real Estate, and other accounts of a similar nature. The chief business account of any business will be Merchandise, for it is from the buying and selling of goods that the principal profit is derived. All accounts of business are placed together on a statement known as a statement of losses and gains. The following is the form of such a statement.

Statement of Losses & Gains, Mar. 31, 190—

		LOSSES	GAINS
Merch.	Value of unsold
	4200
	Excess of cost over sales
	3642
	Gain		558
	Expense Cost	126.50
	Net Gain	431.50
		558	558

HOW TO MAKE OUT A STATEMENT OF LOSSES AND GAINS.

Take a sheet of journal paper and write at the top thereof, Statement of Losses and Gains, March 31, 19—. All losses are placed in the left-hand or debit column of the statement, and all gains are placed in the right-hand or credit column.

1. Take the amount of merchandise which you have on hand, as shown by your inventory, $2416.20, and place it after Merchandise, value of unsold, writing it short, as shown in model, page 35.

2. The excess of the debit over the credit side of your Merchandise account, as shown by your trial balance, is $1736.50. Take this amount and place it after Merchandise, excess of cost over sales, writing it short, as shown in model.

3. It is evident, from the above, that you have paid out $1736.50 more than you have received for merchandise, and if you had no goods on hand your loss would be $1736.50; but it is estimated that the goods you have on hand are worth $2416.20, and could be sold for this amount, so in reality you have a profit of $679.70 ($$2416.20 - $1736.50 = \679.70). Write your profit in the Gain column after Merchandise Gain. (See model.)

4. The debit side of your Expense account is $104 greater than the credit side, so it is evident that there has been a loss on expense of $104. Place this amount after Expense in the Loss column.

5. Foot your Loss and Gain columns. The footing of your Gain column is $679.70, and the footing of your Loss column is $104; the difference between the footings is $575.70. As the Gain column is the greater, it is evident that the business has made a profit of $575.70. Write this amount after the words Net Gain, in red ink, in the Loss column. Now foot your Gain and Loss columns, and write the footings as shown in model. When an amount is written in red ink, it indicates the difference between two columns, or between two sides of an account. Red ink entries are always placed on the smaller side, and show that the opposite side or column is greater than the column containing the red ink entry by the amount of such entry.

ACCOUNTS OF FINANCE.

The second class of accounts in your trial balance may be called Accounts of Finance, since they represent money value or money indebtedness to the business. They comprise the resources or property of the business, and its liabilities or debts, and include such accounts as Cash, Bills Receivable, Merchandise (property on hand), Bills Payable, accounts with persons, etc. The difference between the resources or property of any business and its liabilities or debts will show the present worth of that business, and the Proprietor should have credit for this amount. To ascertain the present worth of the business, you should make out a statement of resources and liabilities. The following is the form of such a statement.

Statement of Resources & Liabilities, Mar. 31, 190-

		RESOURCES.	LIABILITIES.
Mdse.	as per Inventory	4200
Cash	amount on hand	182530
B. W. Freeman	balance due	29650
A. H. White & Co.	" "	62845
J. C. Barnes & Co.	" "	92830
M. F. Hyde & Son	" "	38870
Bills Rec.	notes on hand	745
L. C. Kean & Co.	due them		1260
Calhoun, Robbins & Co.	" "		1865
J. D. Leach & Co.	" "		432
Bills Pay.	notes outstanding		1865
Present Worth			359025
		901225	901225

HOW TO MAKE OUT A STATEMENT OF RESOURCES AND LIABILITIES.

Take a sheet of journal paper and write at the top thereof, Statement of Resources and Liabilities, Mar. 31, 19-. Write on the statement the names of all accounts in your ledger, except your own, Expense, and Loss and Gain, as shown in the above model, but do not put any figures in the amount columns. The left-hand or debit column of your statement is used for your resources; the right-hand or credit column is used for your liabilities.

1. Take the amount of merchandise you have on hand, as shown by your inventory ($2416.20), and place it after Merchandise, in the Resource column.

2. The debit side of your Cash account, as shown by your trial balance, is $1145.50 more than the credit side. This is a resource, and should be written after Cash in the Resource column.

3. The debit side of the account of W. A. Scott, as shown by your trial balance, is $377 more than the credit side. This is a resource, and should be placed after W. A. Scott in the Resource column.

4, 5. Treat the accounts of S. A. Dodge & Co., J. S. Sumner, E. H. French & Co., Emerson & Sons, Wm. Archer & Co., Weston & Hill and Roberts Bros. in a similar manner.

6. The debit side of your Bills Receivable account, as shown by your trial balance, is $669.50 more than the credit side. Place this amount in your Resource column. In making up your statement all resources should be given first, then the liabilities.

7. By referring to your trial balance, it is ascertained that the credit side of your Bills Payable account is $845 more than the debit side, hence you have a liability of $845. This amount should be placed after Bills Payable in your Liability column.

8. By referring to your trial balance, it is ascertained that the credit side of the account of A. J. Lane is $302 more than the debit side. Place the amount after A. J. Lane in the Liability column.

9, 10. Treat the accounts of W. H. Stevens, F. A. Smith & Co., Rice, Miller & Co., H. S. Clough & Co. and Kidder & Hill in a similar manner to that of A. J. Lane.

11. Find the difference between your Resource and Liability columns. The difference in the present instance is $3042.70. Place this amount in your Liability column, in red ink, after the words Present Worth. The difference between the resources or property of any business and its liabilities or debts will show the present worth of that business. In case the liabilities or debts should exceed the resources or property, it is evident that there would be no present worth, and that the business would be insolvent; that is, it could not pay its debts if called upon to do so.

12. You will now make out a proof of your statement of resources and liabilities. See model below.

Proof of Statement.

D. H. Martin PROPRIETOR.	Invested 3300. Withdrawn 141.25 Net Investment 3158.75 Net Gain 431.50 Present Worth 3590.25
--	---	--	--

The amount of the Proprietor's investment is taken from the credit side of his ledger account. In your ledger this amount is $2500. The amount of his withdrawals is taken from the debit side of his ledger account. In your ledger this amount is $33. Subtract the withdrawals from the investment, which will give you the net investment, and in your case the amount is $2467. Place this after your name, as shown in model.

13. The amount of your gain, as shown by your loss and gain statement, is $575.70. Place this after Net Gain.

14. Your net gain added to your investment should give the present worth of the business, which is $3042.70. This amount agrees with the amount shown in the statement of resources and liabilities, hence the statement is correct. If the business shows a loss, the amount of the loss should be subtracted from the net investment to find the present worth.

MODEL LEDGER.

The preceding two pages represent a model ledger properly closed and ruled. The student should carefully examine the form and ruling.

HOW TO CLOSE THE LEDGER.

Close your accounts of business first, then your accounts of finance.

Merchandise.—The first account in your ledger which shows a loss or a gain is Merchandise. The debit side of this account is $1736.50 more than the credit side. This indicates that you bought $1736.50 worth more merchandise than you have sold, but you still have on hand (see inventory, page 35), $2416.20 worth of merchandise. It is presumed that you can sell this merchandise for its cost value, $2416.20; if so, Merchandise should be credited for this amount. Place your inventory on the credit side of your Merchandise account in red ink. Write March 31 in the date column, the word Inventory in the explanation column, and $2416.20 in the amount column. (See illustration below; also see illustration in model ledger, page 40.) The footing of the credit side of your Merchandise account, including the inventory, is now $8533.20. The footing of the debit side is $7853.50. As the footing of the credit side is the larger, it is evident that there has been a gain of $679.70 ($8533.20—$7853.50=$679.70). Place the amount of the gain, in red ink, on the debit side of Merchandise account, writing March 31 in the date column, the word Gain in the explanation column, and $679.70 in the amount column. (See illustration below; also model ledger, page 40.) Foot your Merchandise account, rule it, and bring your inventory below the ruled lines on the debit side.

Apr. 1	Inventory	2072 45

When you commenced the closing process your ledger was in balance, as shown by the trial balance. A double entry ledger should always be in balance; that is, its debits should always equal its credits. In closing the Merchandise account you made a credit entry of $2416.20 with no corresponding debit. By transferring this amount, in black ink, to the debit side of Merchandise on the first line below the ruling under date of April 1, you restore the equilibrium of the ledger, so far as this entry is concerned. You also show what the merchandise has cost which you now have on hand.

All red ink entries which you make in your ledger must be transferred to the opposite side of the account in which they are made, or to the opposite side of some other account; otherwise the ledger will be out of balance.

You made an entry of the gain ($679.70), in red ink, on the debit side of your Merchandise account, which of course throws your ledger out of balance. Transfer this amount, in black ink, to the credit side of the Loss and Gain account, writing the page of Merchandise in the folio column of the Loss and Gain account and the page of Loss and Gain in the folio column of the Merchandise account. (See illustration below.)

Loss & Gain

				Mar 31	Mdse.				1 1207 80

You have now restored the equilibrium of the ledger and placed the amount of your gain from merchandise on the gain side of the Loss and Gain account. All gains of the business are placed on the credit side of this (Loss and Gain) account, and all losses of the business are placed on the debit side. In the space for the explanation we write Mdse. for the purpose of indicating the source from which the gain was produced. The student should examine model ledger on page 40, and trace the gain from the Merchandise account to the Loss and Gain account.

Expense.—The debit side of the Expense account is $104. As there is nothing on the credit side, it is evident that expense has cost the business $104. Write the amount of the loss on the credit side of the Expense account, in red ink, and foot and rule the account. (See illustration below.)

Expense

Feb. 13		2	150	Mar 31	Loss

Mar 1		7	150
20		10	45
31		12	65
			532 50						532 50

Transfer the loss ($104) of the Expense account to the debit side of the Loss and Gain account—this restores the equilibrium of the ledger—and place the loss on the loss side of the Loss and Gain account.

The following represents a Loss and Gain account as it will appear after the transfers have been made. The figures in the amount columns are different from your figures.

Loss & Gain

190-	Mar 31 Expense	1	532.50	190-	Mar 31 Mdse.	C	1207.80
------	----------------	---	--------	------	--------------	---	---------

Loss and Gain.—Your Loss and Gain account now contains on the debit side the names of all accounts that show a loss to the business, and on the credit side the names of all accounts that show a gain. This being the case, it is evident that the difference between the sides of the Loss and Gain account will show the net gain or net loss to the business. As the credit side of this account is $575.70 in excess of the debit side, it is evident that the business has gained $575.70. Place this amount on the debit side of the Loss and Gain account, in red ink, writing the name of the proprietor (yourself) in the explanation column, and foot and rule the account.

The following represents a Loss and Gain account properly closed. The figures in the amount columns are different from your figures.

	3+ Student's Name		675.30
	PROPRIETOR.		1207.80				1207.80

Proprietor's Account.—The amount of the net gain ($575.70), as shown by the Loss and Gain account, should be transferred to the account of the Proprietor (student). Write, in black ink, on the credit side of the Proprietor's account, Net Gain, $575.70.

The following represents the Proprietor's account as it should appear at the present time. The figures in the amount columns are different from your figures.

Feb. 28		7	125	Feb. 1		1	7000
Mar 31		12	159	Mar 31	Net Gain	3	67530

The debit side of the Proprietor's account shows withdrawals to the amount of $33; the credit side shows an investment of $2500 and the gain, $575.70, making a total of $3075.70. It is evident that the present worth of the business may be found by taking the difference between the sides of the Proprietor's account. The difference between the sides is $3042.70. Make an entry on the debit side of the Proprietor's account, in red ink, for this amount, and foot and rule the account. Transfer the amount, in black ink, to the opposite side of the Proprietor's account on the first line below the ruling under date of April 1st.

The following represents the form of a Proprietor's account properly footed and ruled. The figures in the amount columns are different from the figures in your books.

Student's Name, PROPRIETOR.

			767530				767530
				Apr. 1	Present Worth		740030

Accounts of Finance.—With the exception of the Proprietor's account, it is not customary to close the accounts of finance. Should a personal account balance at any time, it may be footed and ruled, or a single red line may be drawn under each side to indicate that the account balances. (See model on page 41.) Should it be desired to close the accounts of finance at any time, this may be done by taking the difference between the sides and placing it on the smaller side, in red ink, writing the word Balance in the explanation column. (See Cash account in model ledger, page 41.) The accounts may then be footed and the red ink balance brought below the ruled lines on the opposite side from which it is written.

INSPECTION BY TEACHER.

Your ledger is now closed. Present the work to your teacher for inspection. Be sure that every detail has received proper attention, and that no dates, page marks, nor explanations have been omitted. Notice the fact that your closing entries in the ledger are in red ink, and that all transfers are in black ink. Some accountants use no red ink, but make all entries and rulings in black ink.

PROOF TRIAL BALANCE.

After closing the ledger, the student should take off a proof trial balance in order to be sure that the ledger is in balance before making additional entries therein.

HOW TO MAKE OUT A PROOF TRIAL BALANCE.

Take a sheet of ordinary journal paper, and at the top write the heading Proof Trial Balance, March 31, 190-. Do not write the names of the accounts in the explanation column, as the amounts are sufficient for this work (see illustration, page 47). Commence with the first account in your ledger. If the balance is on the debit side, write the balance in the debit column of your proof trial balance; if the balance is on the credit side, write the balance in the credit column. In the present instance the balance as shown by your account is $3042.70. Place this in the credit column of your trial balance. The balance as shown by your Merchandise account (as brought below the ruled lines) is $2416.20. Place this in the debit column of your trial balance. There is no balance shown by the Expense account or Loss and Gain account, so omit these accounts from your trial balance. The balance shown by your Cash account is $1145.50. Place this in the debit column of your trial balance. Continue this process until the balances of all the accounts in your ledger have been placed on your trial balance, then foot your trial balance. If it balances, present it to your teacher for examination and approval.

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE STUDENT.

You are now to act as bookkeeper for James M. Hastings, who commences the Flour, Grain and Produce business to-day (April 1), at 146 Elm St., your city. You will receive a salary of $60 per month. Your teacher will furnish you all the vouchers (business papers) and blank forms necessary to perform the numbered transactions which follow.

You will get the same experience you would in a real business, so far as it is possible within the limits of a school to give this experience. Bills of merchandise bought, and other business papers, will be given you by your teacher, or will come from a pad of incoming vouchers, just as they would come to the business house by mail. These papers are similar in every respect to those used in business. All papers issued by the business are to be written up by you, and all transactions must be recorded in the books exactly as in real business.

As Mr. Hastings attends to the buying and selling, and is absent from the city a large part of the time, it will be necessary that you sign and indorse notes, checks and other negotiable paper during his absence, as well as keep the books of the business. In order to do this, you must have a power of attorney. Mr. Hastings gives this to you, and it forms the first of your incoming vouchers, which you will find in a pad marked "Incoming Vouchers." Remove this power of attorney from the pad and fill out the blank spaces. Read it carefully and see what powers it confers upon you, then fold lengthwise and write on the upper right-hand corner, Power of Attorney, J. M. Hastings, April 1, and the current year, and place the paper in your Voucher File.

A power of attorney is a legal document which confers upon the holder the right to perform certain acts specified therein, in the name of some other person who issues the power of attorney. It is generally witnessed by a notary public, who stamps the document with his seal.

Such a power of attorney as you have received should be presented at the bank with which the maker does business, and also at the post-office and express office, as it gives the holder the right to indorse post-office and express money orders in the name of the maker.

You will receive all goods purchased, deliver the goods sold, and make a full and complete record in the books of the business of all transactions which may occur.

The work in your books will not be like the work of any other student. Your selling price-list will be assigned by your teacher from the numbered lists found in the text-book, page 66. Your price-list will be unlike that of any other student, and you must adhere strictly to this price-list in order to get correct results.

Do not compare your books with those of other students. The results will be different, and you cannot learn too early the habit of self-reliance. Understand why you make each record, and you will succeed.

Before making the entry in your books for any transaction, determine first which accounts are affected by that transaction, and then which account is to be debited and which is to be credited, by applying the rules for debit and credit in the journal exercises to which you will be referred by number.

Books Kept.—The books which you will keep in this work are the journal-daybook and the ledger as principal books, and the check book as an auxiliary book.

WORK FOR THE STUDENT.

No. 1.—APRIL 1. After reading your instructions carefully, ask your teacher to assign you a selling price-list, and take from your incoming voucher pad the cash which shall constitute Mr. Hastings' investment. After this has been done, count your cash and place it in the envelope entitled "Cash Drawer," which you will find in your large envelope entitled "Business Forms."

Determine the debit by reading rule 3, page 10; determine the credit by reading rule 4, page 11. For transaction similar to this, see transaction No. 1, page 10. Make proper entry in your journal-daybook. The following illustrates the form of your entry, though the amounts and explanation are different.

No. 2.—APRIL 1. Mr. Hastings has rented the building at 146 Elm St. from R. B. Hines. According to the lease he is to pay $100 per month rent. Pay the rent for April in cash, placing the cash in your "Cash Paid Out" envelope.

Determine the debit by rule 5, page 11; determine the credit by rule 6, page 11. The following illustrates the form of your entry, though the amounts and explanation are different.

FIGURES IN THE CENTS COLUMN.—When the amount to be written consists of an even number of dollars, it is the custom of some bookkeepers to leave the cents column blank, while others write two ciphers in that column. A common error in bookkeeping is to omit the cents of an amount. If the ciphers are written in the cents column when the amount is an even number of dollars, this error is not likely to occur, otherwise the writing of ciphers in the cents column is a waste of time and makes the addition of a long column of figures more difficult. The better method is to indicate even dollars by writing a light dash in the cents column, as shown in the model below.

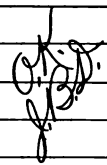

Flour,	250 brls.,	at 4.50	1125 —
Oats,	600 bu.,	36¢	216 —
Corn,	225 bu.,	50¢	112 50
Rye,	101 bu.,	50¢	50 50
Barley,	100 bu.,	48¢	48 — 1552 —

In paying out money always make payment in bills of the largest denominations possible. In this instance you should take a hundred-dollar bill. Should you have occasion to pay out $75, you should make payment by using one fifty-dollar bill, one twenty-dollar bill, and one five-dollar bill.

Read the lease carefully and see what rights and restrictions it mentions. Place the receipt and the lease in the envelope marked "Vouchers for Others."

No. 3.—APRIL 2. This bill shows a cash purchase from Daniels Bros. of 200 brls. flour at $4.20 per brl., 400 bu. oats at 23¢ per bu.

You will find this invoice (No. 3) with merchandise cards (No. 3) on a pad in your envelope entitled "Incoming Vouchers." The vouchers, cards, etc., on this pad are numbered to correspond with the numbers of the transactions in this book. Be sure that the number of the voucher and the number of the transaction agree before attempting to make a book entry. Detach the invoice and the merchandise from the pad. See that you have on your cards the amount of flour and oats called for in the bill, and if so, check each item on the bill, using pen and ink and placing a check mark in the vertical column at the left of the bill. See that the multiplications and additions are correct, placing a check mark against each correct amount at the right. If the bill is correct, write O. K., with your initials underneath, in the lower left-hand corner. The following represents the form of a bill after it has been treated as explained above.

If the bill is correctly made out, take the money to pay it from your Cash Drawer, and place it in "Cash Paid Out" envelope. Place the merchandise in the envelope marked "Store Room." Determine the journal entry by referring to rule 7, page 12, and rule 6, page 11. The following illustrates the form of your entry, though the amounts and explanation are different.

Fold the bill lengthwise, face outward, and write across the face, Entered, with the date underneath. Place it in the envelope entitled "Voucher File."

No. 4.—APRIL 2. This bill shows a purchase from D. Deavenport & Co., for cash, of 1200 bu. corn at 28¢ per bu., 150 brls. apples at $1.65 per brl.

Check and O. K. the bill as in No. 3. Take cash to pay the bill from your Cash Drawer, and place in "Cash Paid Out" envelope. Place the merchandise in the Store Room. Your journal entry will be similar to No. 3. Fold the bill, write Entered across the face, and file as in No. 3. Follow all instructions in the exact order in which they are given.

No. 5.—APRIL 3. Mr. Hastings has taken this order and received the cash for the goods, 50 brls. apples, 50 brls. flour.

Copy the selling price-list which your teacher assigned you on voucher No. 5a, and paste it on the inside of the front cover of your text-book.

Select from your Store Room the merchandise which the order calls for, and make out a bill to J. A. Barker at your selling price on one of the blank billheads which you will find in your envelope entitled "Business Forms." Use one of the bills in your Voucher File as a model.

After making out the bill, review your multiplications and additions so as to be positive that they are correct. Remember that bills sent from an office must be right. If the bill is correctly made out, its amount will agree with the cash received with the order (No. 5), and you may receipt the bill and place the cash in your Cash Drawer.

Place the merchandise and the receipted bill in the envelope entitled "Vouchers for Others." Determine the debit by reading rule 3, page 10; determine the credit by reading rule 8, page 12. The following illustrates the form of the journal entry, though the amounts and explanation are different.

You will notice that all merchandise which you sell is itemized in your journal-daybook, while that which you buy is entered in total only. In selling merchandise you give a bill to the person to whom the sale is made, and to preserve a complete record of the sale you must enter the items singly in your journal-daybook, for the purchaser may require of you a duplicate bill at any time, and unless you have the items in your books it will be impossible to prepare the duplicate.

When you buy merchandise you receive a bill, and as this bill is on file you can refer to it at any time that you desire to examine the items, so that it is necessary to enter the total only in your journal-daybook.

No. 6.—APRIL 3. Purchase, for cash, from L. A. Wright & Co., 1000 bu. oats, 125 brls. flour.

You will find this invoice (No. 6) and the merchandise cards (No. 6) on the pad of incoming vouchers. Detach the invoice and the merchandise from the pad, and compare the merchandise cards with the items on the invoice; if correct, check the items and verify the calculations.

Pay the bill by taking the proper amount of cash from your Cash Drawer and placing it in the envelope entitled "Cash Paid Out." In paying cash in this work always place the cash in the envelope entitled "Cash Paid Out." This envelope will be delivered to your teacher after the work has been completed.

Place the merchandise in the Store Room and make proper entry in your journal-daybook. (For entry similar to this, see transaction No. 3, page 51.) Fold and file your invoice according to instructions given in transaction No. 3, page 52.

No. 7.—APRIL 4. You have purchased, for cash, books and stationery as per invoice No. 7.

Take the invoice (No. 7) from your incoming voucher pad, verify, and if correct write your initials under the O. K. and pay the bill, placing the cash in the envelope entitled "Cash Paid Out." Determine the account to be debited by reading rule 5, page 11; determine the account to be credited by reading rule 6, page 11. Fold and file the bill.

No. 8.—APRIL 4. Sell E. M. Smythe & Co., for cash, 900 bu. oats, 900 bu. corn at your selling price.

Proceed according to directions given in transaction No. 5, page 52. Place the merchandise cards, with a receipted bill, in Vouchers for Others. Always count your cash before receipting a bill. Determine the debit by rule 3, page 10; determine the credit by rule 8, page 12.

No. 9.—APRIL 4. You have bought merchandise on account, as shown in invoice (No. 9).

Detach the invoice and the merchandise cards from the pad. Verify the calculations and O. K. the bill; if it is correct, place the merchandise in the Store Room. Make the proper entry in your journal-daybook. For entry similar to this, see transaction No. 15, page 23. Determine the debit by rule 7, page 12; determine the credit by rule 9, page 23.

This bill is not receipted. Why not? Fold lengthwise, write Entered across the face, with the date, and place it in your Invoice File. Place all bills bought on account in the envelope entitled "Invoice File."

No. 10.—APRIL 4. FIRST REPORT. Detach the report blank (No. 10) from your incoming voucher pad, and from your journal entries determine how much cash has been received. This will be shown by taking the sum of your cash debits. Write the amount opposite Cash Received in the report. From the cash credits in the journal find how much cash has been paid out, and write it opposite Cash Paid Out in the report. Write the difference between the cash received and the cash paid out opposite Cash on Hand in the report. This amount should agree with the amount of cash in your Cash Drawer; if it does not, trace the error. From the credits of merchandise in your journal find how much merchandise you have sold, and place it opposite Bills of Merchandise Sold in the report. These are all the results required in the first report.

You will now present the report to your teacher, with your journal, "Vouchers for Others" and "Cash Paid Out" envelopes. Examine every voucher carefully to see that it is correctly made and checked, as well as neatly written. Poor work will not be accepted, and it is a waste of time to hand it in. Rewrite all work that is not your best before presenting it for inspection. If your work meets your teacher's approval, he will retain your Cash Paid Out, returning the remainder of your vouchers with your journal.

No. 11.—APRIL 5. Mr. Hastings has decided to open a bank account and has selected the Commercial Bank as the institution with which to do business.

Method of Opening a Bank Account.—If the person who wishes to open a bank account is not acquainted with the officers of the bank, he should get some one to introduce him. At the time of the introduction the cashier takes the depositor's signature in a signature book or on a card. The following represents the form of signature card when a person signs as attorney.

FORM OF SIGNATURE CARD.

In this instance you represent Mr. Hastings, and he has given you the power of attorney to sign his name. Take the power of attorney (No. A) from your Voucher File, and read it carefully. Next detach the blank card (No. 11) from your incoming voucher pad, and write the name of J. M. Hastings and your name thereon, according to form shown above. You should write the signature on the card in the exact manner in which you propose to write it on checks. Give the card to the bank. In case there is no regular bank in the school, your teacher will receive your signature card and transact with you the business of the bank. Make out a deposit ticket for $5000. The model shown on page 55 illustrates the form of ticket you should make out.

In making out a deposit ticket be sure to list currency and checks separately. Each check should be set down as a separate and distinct item. Take $5000 in cash from the Cash Drawer, and take the money, deposit ticket and bank pass book to the bank and present them to the teller, who will receive the cash and give you credit for the amount, by entering it upon the left-hand page of the bank pass book, with the date and his initials. (If the school has no regular bank, go to your teacher, who will make the teller's entry.)

Make no journal entry for this transaction. The $5000 has not left the business, but has been placed in the bank for safe keeping and is still at your disposal.

No. 12.—APRIL 5. On your incoming voucher pad you will find an order (No. 12) for merchandise from Chas. E. Hayes, who wishes to purchase on account.

Select the goods from the Store Room and check each item on the order as soon as filled. Make out the bill from your price-list, but do not receipt it. Place the number (12) on the bill. Verify your calculations and make your journal entry. Determine the debit by rule 10, page 24; determine the credit by rule 8, page 12.

In filling orders be sure that the proper merchandise cards accompany each bill. Unless you are careful in this respect, you will not have the right quantity of merchandise on hand when you take your inventory at the end of the month. If you have followed directions, the cards in your Store Room will then agree with the quantity of merchandise on hand.

Place the merchandise and the bill in the envelope entitled "Vouchers for Others." Fold the order lengthwise, face outward, and write Filled, with the date, across the face. Place the order in the Voucher File.

No. 13.—APRIL 6. This order calls for merchandise to be sold on account.

Select the goods and check each item upon the order as filled. Verify your calculations and place the order number on this and all following bills. Make entry similar to that for transaction No. 12. Fold and file the order.

No. 14.—APRIL 8. This invoice of merchandise (No. 14) is purchased on account. When terms are not mentioned, it is understood that the purchase is on account. Compare the merchandise with the items on the bill, and check each amount if correct. O. K. the bill, file it, and make your journal entry. Determine the debit by rule 7, page 12; determine the credit by rule 9, page 23.

No. 15.—APRIL 8. You have received cash (No. 15) in part payment of bill sold to Chas. E. Hayes on the 5th inst.

Count the cash, and if correct, write a receipt for the amount, using No. 2 as model. Place the cash in your Cash Drawer and the receipt in Vouchers for Others. Make proper entry in your journal-daybook. Determine the debit by rule 3, page 10; determine the credit by rule 11, page 25.

No. 16.—APRIL 9. Pay Hatheway & Reynolds $400 in cash.

Take the cash from your Cash Drawer and place it in the "Cash Paid Out" envelope, taking a receipt (No. 16) for the amount. Place the receipt in your Voucher File. Make proper entry in your journal-daybook. Determine the debit by rule 12, page 25; determine the credit by rule 6, page 11.

No. 17.—APRIL 10. Mr. Hastings has ordered this merchandise on account from Geo. C. Cary.

Examine the merchandise and see that it corresponds with the quantities called for in the invoice. Check each item, verify the calculations, and O. K. the bill. Make proper entry in your journal-daybook. Determine the debit by rule 7, page 12; determine the credit by rule 9, page 23. Fold the bill and place it in your Invoice File.

No. 18.—APRIL 10. This note has been received from Ellis & Rand in part payment for transaction No. 13.

Examine the note carefully. Who promises to pay the note? Who should receive credit for this note? Make proper entry in your journal-daybook. Determine the debit by rule 15, page 29; determine the credit by rule 11, page 25. Place the note in your Cash Drawer and keep it there until it is disposed of or paid.

Notes are not cash, but are kept in the Cash Drawer for convenience only.

No. 19.—APRIL 11. This order from Chas. E. Hayes is for merchandise on account.

Select the merchandise from the Store Room and make out the bill. Verify your calculations and make proper journal entry. Determine the debit by rule 10, page 24; determine the credit by rule 8, page 12. Place the bill and the merchandise in Vouchers for Others.

No. 20.—APRIL 12. This invoice is for merchandise purchased from L. A. Wright & Co. on account.

Check each item on the bill as you compare the merchandise with the items. Verify the calculations; if correct, O. K. the bill. Place the merchandise in the Store Room. Make proper journal entry. Determine the debit by rule 7, page 12; determine the credit by rule 9, page 23.

No. 21.—APRIL 14. Give L. A. Wright & Co. Mr. Hastings' note for $400, at 10 days, on account.

Make out a note, using Voucher No. 18 as model; also see form of note, transaction No. 54, page 30. Be sure to fill out the blanks on the stub of your note book before removing the note. Make proper journal entry. Determine the debit by rule 12, page 25; determine the credit by rule 16, page 30. Place this note in the envelope entitled "Bills Payable File," which you will find in your package of Business Forms. Do not lose the contents of this envelope, as you will be required to take from it each note or bill payable when it becomes due.

No. 22.—APRIL 14. This order from Ellis & Rand is for merchandise on account.

Select the goods and make out the bill. Verify the calculations and make journal entry. Place all bills to others with goods sold in Vouchers for Others.

No. 23.—APRIL 16. C. E. Hayes has given his check to apply on account.

The check is regarded as cash, because it can be converted into cash at once by presenting it at the bank. Examine the check carefully to see that it is properly dated, filled out, and signed. Make proper journal entry. Determine the debit by rule 3, page 10; determine the credit by rule 11, page 25. Place the check in your Cash Drawer and count it as part of your cash.

A check is an order written by a depositor, requesting the bank in which he has money deposited to pay a certain amount to some person named, or to his order, upon presentation of the check. The bank will require the person named to be identified, if he is not personally known, and will also require him to indorse the check; that is, write his name across the back at the left end of the check about one inch from the top.

No. 24.—APRIL 16. SECOND REPORT. From your journal find out how much cash has been received since the first report was made out, April 4, and write it opposite Cash Received. Find the amount of cash paid out during the same space of time, and place it opposite Cash Paid Out. Add the cash received to the cash on hand shown in the first report, and subtract the cash paid out from this amount. The remainder will be the amount of cash on hand; but $5000 of the cash on hand is in the Commercial Bank, as shown by the stub of your check book. Write this $5000 opposite Cash in Bank, subtract from the cash on hand, and the remainder will be the amount in the cash drawer, which should agree with the actual currency in your Cash Drawer.

Find the amount of merchandise sold since the first report; also notes issued by the business. The latter will be found by taking the credits of Bills Payable in your journal, which should correspond with the bills payable in your envelope entitled "Bills Payable File."

Examine your vouchers to see that they are correct in every respect. Hand the report, with your journal, Cash Paid Out, and Vouchers for Others, to your teacher.

No. 25.—APRIL 17. Give George C. Cary a check for $300, to apply on account.

Open your check book and fill out the stub as shown in the following form of check book stub. The stub is the original entry of this transaction, and should be filled out before the check.

Fill out the check according to form given below.

17 East Main St.	(Your place here.)	Apr. 17, 190	No. 1
	Commercial Bank
	Pay to the order of Geo. C. Cary		$300 00
	Three hundred ⁰⁰/₁₀₀		Dollars
	J. M. Hastings
by Student, Atty.

In filling out a check be sure to commence writing the amount of dollars at the extreme left-hand end, as shown in model, and fill up the blank space after the amount with a wavy line. Failure to observe these instructions may render the maker of a check liable, in case the check should be raised by any dishonest person into whose hands it might happen to fall. Sign the check in the same manner in which you wrote J. M. Hastings' name upon the signature card.

You will notice that the above check is made payable to order. When a check is so written, the holder is compelled to indorse it before obtaining money thereon, or before transferring it to another person. If a check is made payable to bearer, it is transferable upon delivery without indorsement. Most banks require all checks to be indorsed before they will cash them. This is not necessary if the check is payable to bearer, but such practice affords a means of identification should any dispute arise as to who obtained the money.

Remove the check from the check book and place it in Cash Paid Out. Subtract the amount of the check from the amount in the bank, and bring down the balance. Geo. C. Cary will present this check at the bank, and when the bank pays it, the check will be charged to J. M. Hastings' account and deducted from the deposit he has made.

In order to make the check book agree with the bank account, you must subtract all checks when given and add all deposits when made. Errors in the check book are very common, and it will necessitate the utmost care on your part to prevent their occurrence.

Take a blank deposit ticket and write opposite the word Currency the amount of bills in your Cash Drawer, and under Checks write the amount of each individual check separately on the deposit ticket.

The accompanying illustration represents a deposit ticket properly filled out. The items are different from those on your deposit ticket.

Place the currency, checks and deposit ticket in your bank pass book, and present to the teller, or to your teacher if no bank is used in connection with the work. See that the proper amount is entered in the bank pass book, and add this amount to the balance in the Commercial Bank, as shown by the stub of your check book. Leave your bank pass book at the bank to be written up.

No. 42.—APRIL 30. THIRD REPORT. Prepare your report blank, showing cash received, cash paid out, cash on hand in the Commercial Bank, merchandise sold, and such other results as are called for on the report blank. Hand the report, together with your vouchers and journal-daybook, to your teacher.

No. 43.—APRIL 30. Draw a check on the Commercial Bank, in favor of your teacher, for the amount of your bank balance, and give the check to him.

POSTING.

In your ledger, at the top of page 1, write J. M. Hastings; 15 lines below write Merchandise. At the top of page 2 write Expense, and 15 lines below write Loss and Gain.

These accounts make a section of the ledger containing all the business accounts (see page 35), or accounts showing losses or gains; the Loss and Gain account, where these gains and losses are gathered under one head (see page 40); and the Proprietor, who receives the gain from the business or sustains the loss, should there be one.

On page 3 of your ledger, at the top, write Cash; 18 lines below write Chas. E. Hayes; and 15 lines below this write Ellis & Rand. At the top of page 4 write T. W. Bowen & Co.; 15 lines below write H. A. Woodbury; and 15 lines below this write Bills Receivable.

These accounts make a section of your ledger containing accounts of finance (see page 36), which show in their balances resources to the business (see page 37). In large business houses accounts with persons owing the business are generally kept in a separate ledger, called the "Customers' Ledger" or "Accounts Receivable Ledger."

At the top of page 5 write Hatheway & Reynolds; 15 lines below write Smith & Dorothy; and 15 lines below this write Geo. C. Cary. At the top of page 6 write L. A. Wright & Co.; 15 lines below write Grunsfeld Bros.; 15 lines below this write Bernet & Craft; at the top of page 7 write Bills Payable.

This third section of your ledger will contain all accounts of finance, which show in their balances a liability to the business.

In business it is, of course, not practicable to write the names of all ledger accounts before posting, and they are opened in the ledger in the order in which they appear in the journal; but separate sections of the ledger should be taken for each class of accounts.

Post your journal entries (see directions, page 13). Check back your postings (see directions, page 26). Take a trial balance of your ledger balances. If the trial balance is correct, take an inventory of your merchandise from the cards found in your Store Room. You should have on hand the following: 305 brls. apples; 200 brls. flour; 25 bu. barley; 675 bu. corn; 800 bu. oats; 1025 bu. potatoes. Find the value of these goods, using the latest cost price as shown by your invoices. Make statements according to forms on pages 35 and 37. Close your ledger.

The Cash Book.—Cash transactions will be numerous in almost any business, and from this fact it has been found advisable to take the Cash account from the ledger and place it in a book called the "Cash Book," which contains on its left-hand page all cash debits, with the name of the account to be credited in the left-hand explanation space, and in the right-hand explanation space a brief description of the transaction. The amount is entered in the left-hand money column. All items of cash paid out or cash credits are entered on the right-hand page of the cash book, with the name of the account to be debited in the left-hand explanation space, and a brief description of the transaction in the right-hand explanation space. The amount is entered in the left-hand money column.

Since the debit of the cash book shows all cash received, and the credit all cash paid out, it is evident that the difference between the two sides of the cash book should show at any time the amount of cash on hand.

It is unnecessary to keep a Cash account in the ledger, although some bookkeepers do so, carrying the total of the left-hand page to the debit side of Cash, and the total of the right-hand page to the credit side of Cash in the ledger.

The cash book should be balanced at frequent intervals. If a considerable amount of business is done in cash, it is well to balance the cash daily. In this and in all following sets, the Cash account will be kept in the cash book only, and not carried into the ledger. Remember the cash book is the Cash account of the ledger, therefore, the balance of the cash book must be carried into the trial balance when that is taken from the ledger.

The Sales Book.—It is customary in business to place all sales of merchandise, whether for cash, on account, or for a note, in a book called the "Sales Book." The footing of this book will at any time show the total sales of merchandise to date. This book does away with a long Merchandise account in the ledger, as the footing of the sales book is carried to the credit of Merchandise in the ledger at the end of each month, or as often as may be desired.

The second or right-hand money column of the sales book contains the amounts which are to be charged to the debit of the respective accounts, and all discounts and allowances must be entered in the first, or item, column.

WORK FOR THE STUDENT.

No. 1.—MAY 1. Being offered a higher salary, and considering that the business affords a better opportunity for advancement, you have accepted a position as bookkeeper for Henry F. Adams, wholesale dealer in Tea, Coffee and Spices, at 246 Main St., your city, at a salary of $75 per month. Mr. Adams will do all the buying and fix all selling prices of the goods, and as he is on the road a large part of the time, will give you a power of attorney similar to the one you received from Mr. Hastings, your former employer. File the power of attorney after filling in the proper names in the blank spaces. You will receive all goods, verify the prices, etc., attend to the filling of all orders, and to the delivery of the goods sold, and have full charge of the books of the business.

No. 2.—MAY 1. Ask your teacher to assign you a price-list from the numbered lists on pages 100 and 101, and take from your incoming voucher pad the cash required for Henry F. Adams' investment.

Make an entry in your journal-daybook, giving a description of the conditions under which the business is begun. Do not extend the amount of cash received in the money column. The following illustrates the form of your journal-daybook entry.

May 1, 190-

Eben W. Jones has this day commenced the Wholesale Tea, Coffee and Spice business, at 172 North St., investing cash, $6000.
---	--	--	--	--	--

It is usually customary in commencing business to write in the journal-daybook a brief statement of the conditions under which the business was commenced, and if it be a partnership, a brief summary of the partners' agreement. This record is made in the journal-daybook, as a matter of convenience only. The amount is not extended in the money column, as this is a cash transaction, but the entry therefor is made in the cash book.

Cash Book Entry.—Enter the amount of cash received in your cash book. The following illustrates the form of the entry, but the amount and explanation are different.

Cash

190- May 1	B. W. Lyman investment	9200
-----------------------------	-------------------------------	-------------	--	--	--

The investment is entered in the first money column of the debit or left-hand page of the cash book. The left-hand explanation space contains the name of the account to be credited, while the right-hand explanation space contains a brief description of the transaction. The extra vertical column at the left is for the page of the ledger when the item is posted. Place the cash in your Cash Drawer.

No. 3.—MAY 1. Pay one month's rent in advance to, and take a receipt from, the National Real Estate Co., which owns the building at 246 Main Street.

Make an entry for this transaction on the credit or right-hand page of the cash book. The following illustrates the form of cash book entry, but the amount is different.

Cash

May 1	Expense	rent for May	90
--------------	----------------	---------------------	-----------	--	--	--

The left-hand explanation space contains the name of the account to be debited, while the right-hand explanation space gives a brief description of the transaction. All cash received or paid out must be entered in the cash book.

No. 4.—MAY 2. You have purchased of the Upton Coal Co., 5 tons coal at $5.25, amounting to $26.25.

This is a cash transaction and the entry will be made on the credit side of the cash book, since cash is paid out. The following shows the form of entry, but the amount is different.

May 1	Expense	5 tons coal	25
--------------	----------------	--------------------	-----------	--	--	--

No. 5.—MAY 2. You have received an invoice of merchandise from West, Stone & Co., New York.

In this series of transactions you will not receive cards to represent merchandise, but will assume that the merchandise has been received, and will check each item on the invoice after verifying the calculations. If found to be correct, O. K. the invoice and place it in your Invoice File. This transaction calls for an entry in the journal (see rule 7, page 12).

No. 6.—MAY 2. Invoice No. 6 has been purchased of L. Hennes & Co., New York, by Mr. Adams, who has agreed to give a note at 60 days in payment.

Verify the calculations. Mr. Adams' O. K. is on the invoice, which you may place in your Invoice File. Write the note required by the transaction and place it in Bills Payable File. Do not forget to fill out the stub of your note book.

In this transaction you will debit Merchandise in the journal and credit L. Hennes & Co. for the amount of the invoice, and debit L. Hennes & Co. and credit Bills Payable for the amount of the note given them in payment.

If L. Hennes & Co. were not a house from which Mr. Adams was making regular purchases on account, it would be unnecessary to carry this invoice to their personal account, as the journal entry, Mdse., Dr., and Bills Payable. Cr., would be sufficient to record the transaction (see No. 54, page 30); but as Mr. Adams is purchasing of L. Hennes & Co. on account, it is advisable that their account in your ledger should show all transactions made with them, hence this account is carried to their credit in the ledger, and they are immediately debited for the note sent in payment.

No. 7.—MAY 2. You may deposit in the Commercial Bank all your cash, except $200, which you will retain in the Cash Drawer. Make out a deposit slip and hand it to the bank teller with the currency and bank pass book. Do not fail to enter the deposit on the stub of your check book.

No. 8.—MAY 3. This invoice of merchandise has been purchased of Shields Bros., City, for cash, and you receive a discount of 2%.

Verify the calculations, see that your discount is right, and if the bill is correct make a journal entry debiting Mdse. and crediting Shields Bros. Write a check for the amount called for. See that the stub of your check book is properly filled out before you detach the check from the book. Deduct the amount of the check from your balance in the bank. Place the check in Cash Paid Out, and place the invoice in your Voucher File. This is a cash transaction and should be entered in your cash book. Write on the credit or right-hand side of the cash book the amount, and in the first explanation space, Shields Bros., which is the name of the account debited. In the second explanation space write invoice of May 3.

No. 9.—MAY 3. Order No. 9 calls for a sale of merchandise on account.

Make out the bill, checking each item on the order as soon as entered on the bill. Verify your calculations and be sure the bill is right. In this month's work all sales of merchandise on account will be entered in the sales book. You will therefore enter the same items and prices on page 1 of this book. The following is the form of sales book entry; the amounts are different.

May 3, 190-

All merchandise sold should be entered in the sales book.

Fold the order and place it in your Voucher File; place the bill in Vouchers for Others.

No. 10.—MAY 4. You have received an order calling for goods at a cash price, which is 3% less than your regular credit price.

Make out the bill and deduct 3% discount from the gross amount. Use bill No. 8 in your Voucher File as a model. The net amount of the bill should agree with check

No. 10, $611.10, which you will receive from F. C. Tenney in your Incoming Vouchers. Receipt the bill and place it in Vouchers for Others. Place the check in your Cash Drawer. Enter the sale in your sales book, one line below your last entry, debiting F. C. Tenney. Place the date in the middle of the line, as in the journal. All gross amounts and discounts appear in the first money column only, net amounts being carried into the second money column.

The following shows the form of your sales book to date, the names and amounts being different.

Enter the cash in your cash book, giving F. C. Tenney credit for the net amount of the bill, as shown by his check No. 10, and in explanation space write "invoice S. B."

Many bookkeepers in making cash sales enter the sale in the sales book as usual, but do not post to the debit of the person to whom the sale is made, placing a check mark against his name. They enter the cash on the debit side of the cash book, with the name of the person or the word "merchandise," but do not post it from that book to the credit of the person, placing instead a check mark against his name in the folio column of the cash book. This method of handling cash transactions has its advantages, as it saves the two postings to the ledger, which offset each other. The footing of the debit side of the cash book will show the debit of cash, and the footing of the total column of the sales book will show the credit of merchandise, so that the proper debit and credit will appear, even though the person who made the purchase is not debited with the purchase and credited with the payment.

Many business houses, however, wish to know just how much business they have done with each customer, and this can only be shown by charging the customer for cash sales the same as for sales on account. When this is done his ledger account shows at a glance just how much business he is doing with the house each month, and this information is usually considered of much more value than the saving of time made by the bookkeeper when he omits to post such items.

In this and the following month's work, cash sales, except for occasional small purchases made by individuals who are not regular customers, will be entered in the sales book and charged to the persons making them, while the payments will be entered in the cash book and credited to the persons making them. In this way the ledger accounts of all regular customers of the business will show the amount of purchases they have made during the continuance of the business.

No. 11.—MAY 4. This order is for merchandise on account.

Make out the bill and check the items on the order. Enter the transaction in the sales book and place the order in your Voucher File. Be sure the amount is correct.

No. 12.—MAY 4. This bill is for books and stationery to be used in the office.

Verify the calculations, O. K. the bill, and write a check for the amount. Enter in the cash book. Do not fail to deduct the amount of the check from your bank balance. This is a common error and causes much trouble in balancing the bank account at the end of the month.

No. 13.—MAY 5. This bill is for office furniture and a safe, which Mr. Adams has purchased for permanent use in the business, and an account will be kept in the ledger with "Furniture and Fixtures."

Fill out a check for the amount and make the proper entry in the cash book, debiting Furniture and Fixtures instead of Expense.

No 14.—MAY 5. Mr. Adams, has decided to purchase the building and lot at 246 Main St. of the National Real Estate Co. Their price is $12000 cash. Not having this amount on hand, Mr. Adams has arranged with James D. Branson to indorse a note for him so that he may borrow $5000 of the Commercial Bank. The following is the form of note required.

$5000	(Your place here)	May 5, 190
Four months after date I promise to pay to
the order of James D. Branson
Five thousand Dollars
at Four City Bank
Value received
No. 2 Due Sept. 5.	H. F. Adams. by Student, atty.

Indorsing a note consists in writing one's name on the back of the note, and the person who thus writes his name becomes responsible for the payment of the note in case the maker fails to make payment when it becomes due. In the case of the note given above, the note is made payable to the order of the indorser, who writes his name upon the back and gives it to H. F. Adams. Adams takes the note to the bank, receives the money, and will pay the note when due. In case he should fail to do this, then James D. Branson would be called upon to pay it.

Write this note, using the model form on page 75, but make it payable at Commercial Bank. Take the note to your teacher, who will indorse it for James D. Branson, if it is correct; then take it to the bank for discount. The note is due Sept. 5th, which is 123 days after May 5th, the date of discount.

Bank discount is found by taking the simple interest on the face of the note for the time in days from the date of discount to the date of maturity; therefore, you may find the interest on $5000 at 6% for 123 days, which is $1xx.x0. Subtract this amount from $5000, and the remainder, $489x.x0, is the net proceeds or amount to be placed to your credit.

HOW TO CALCULATE SIMPLE INTEREST AND BANK DISCOUNT.

Bank discount is the simple interest on the face of commercial paper for its unexpired time; that is, from the date the paper is discounted to the day upon which it becomes due. In this work the exact number of days between these two dates will be used in all calculations of bank discount. For instance, a note dated May 1st at four months would be due Sept. 1st of the same year; but most banks discounting such paper for the full time would not calculate the interest on its face for four months (120 days), but would take the exact number of days between May 1st and Sept. 1st (123 days). This must be remembered in all calculations of bank discount. First find the date the note becomes due; next find the number of days to elapse from the day of discount to the day of maturity, and then calculate the simple interest on the face of the note for this number of days at the rate of discount given, and you have the bank discount.

The method of counting time for discounting notes varies in different banks, and often in the same bank. Some banks count months for the full number of months, and days for the fraction of a month; others count the actual number of days; while some few count one day more than the actual number of days.

If you have no special method of calculating simple interest, you may use the following rule:

Rule.—First, find one-thousandth of the principal, or face of the paper, by removing the decimal point three places to the left, then multiply by the number of days from the date of discount to the date of maturity, and divide by 6. The result will be the bank discount or simple interest at 6%. If any other rate than 6% be required, divide this result by 6, thus obtaining the interest at 1%, and multiply by the rate required.

The above rule is based on the following reasoning.

The	interest	on	one	dollar	for	1	year	at	36%	36¢
"	"	"	"	"	"	2	months	"	"	6¢
"	"	"	"	"	"	10	days	"	"	1¢
"	"	"	"	"	"	1	day	"	"	1 mill.

But 1 mill is one-thousandth of a dollar; therefore, it is evident, according to this reasoning, that one dollar at 36% will double itself in 1000 days. If this is true of one dollar, it is true of any number of dollars, and if we take one-thousandth of any principal, no matter what it may be, we shall have the interest on that principal for one day at 36%. To find the interest for any number of days, it is only necessary to multiply the interest for one day, or one-thousandth of the principal, by the number of days, and we have the interest on that principal for the number of days given at 36%. Dividing this result by 6, we get the result at 6%; dividing it by 4, would give us the interest at 9%; or dividing by 9 would give us the interest at 4%, etc. When no rate of interest is mentioned, 6% is understood.

Discount Memorandum.—Take a discount memorandum and fill it out properly. Supply the items from Mr. Adams' note. Pin the memorandum and the note together, and hand them with your bank pass book to the bank teller, who will place the amount to your credit if you have calculated the discount and the net proceeds correctly.

The following is a form of memorandum which is in use. The name and amounts are not the same as appear in your memorandum.

FORM OF DISCOUNT MEMORANDUM.

DISC. 9.00 & 46.00 COLL. _____	TOTAL _____
PROCEEDS. 2955.00
The student will fill out this blank and pin to the Note before presenting it at the bank.

In case no bank is conducted with this work, you may place the note and discount slip in Bills Payable File, and enter the amount of the proceeds on the left-hand page of your bank pass book, as shown in the following illustration.

190-	May 5	J. L. B. note proceeds ^{d. 102.00}	4897	50
------	-------	---	------	----

After the amount has been entered in your pass book, place the net proceeds upon the left-hand stub of the check book, as shown in the following illustration.

190-	May 1	Branson note discounted.
		Proceeds	4897	50

Add the amount $4897.50 to the amount now on deposit.

Cash Book Entry.—Make an entry on the debit side of the cash book for the face of the note, $5000. The following illustrates the form of your entry.

May	5	Bills Pay.	Branson note at ^{disc} 4 mds $5000
-----	---	------------	--	--	--

By making an entry on the debit side of the cash book you debit Cash and credit Bills Payable.

Make an entry on the credit side of the cash book for the amount of the discount, $102.50. The following illustrates the form of your entry.

May 5 | | Discount | J. L. Branson note^{due} 123 | 102.50 | | |

By making an entry on the credit side of the cash book you credit Cash and debit Discount.

The bank really gave you only $4897.50, but you can readily see that if the bank had given you $5000, you would have been required to take from the $5000 the sum of $102.50 and pay it to the bank for discount; and this is the principle upon which the cash book entries are made.

Rule 19.—DISCOUNT is debited when it is allowed to other persons, or when it is paid to the bank for cashing a note or draft before it is due.

It is evident that the accounts affected by the transaction in the above example are Cash, since cash has been received by the business; Discount, since discount has been allowed the bank for cashing the note 123 days before it is due; and Bills Payable, since Mr. Adams has given a note payable in four months. It is evident that Cash should be debited, since cash has been received (see rule 3), and that Bills Payable should be credited, since a note has been issued (see rule 16). Discount has cost the business value, since you have allowed the bank $102.50 for cashing a note before it is due; therefore, Discount should be debited (see rule 19).

If the entries were made in the journal, Cash and Discount would be debited and Bills Payable credited, according to the following form.

Cash,	4897.50
Discount	102.50
Bills Payable		5000.00

No. 15.—MAY 5. You have received from the National Real Estate Company the deed of the building and lot No. 246 Main St.

Write a check for the amount called for in the deed. In this transaction real estate has cost the business value, and therefore Real Estate should be debited. The Real Estate account is subject to the same rules as the Merchandise account.

A deed is always received when real estate is purchased, since the title to real estate is shown by this document. The document should be recorded as soon as it is received, since the seller of the real estate might dispose of it to another party, giving a second deed, and in such a case the deed first recorded would be held, at law, a good title to the property.

Rule 20.—Debit REAL ESTATE when purchased, and for all amounts paid for its improvement and permanent repairs.

No. 16.—MAY 6. This invoice has been purchased of the E. Westen Tea & Spice Co. by Mr. Adams.

Verify the calculations and file the invoice, making the proper entry in your journal.

No. 17.—MAY 6. This order is accompanied by a note for $500 to apply on account.

Make out the bill and check each item on the order. Enter in the sales book as a sale on account, making no mention of the note for $500 received with the order. In your journal make the proper entry for the note. What account should be debited? What account should be credited? Place the note in your Cash Drawer.

No. 18.—MAY 8. Take from your Cash Drawer the note received from A. A. Knowles & Co., and prepare a discount memorandum. Calculate the discount on the note from May 8th to the date of maturity (58 days). The discount on $500 for 58 days at 6% is $4.x3. (For method of calculating discount, see page 76.) Make a discount memorandum and attach it to the note; take the note to the bank teller, and have the net proceeds entered in your bank pass book. Enter the amount on the stub of your check book, as explained in No. 14, and add the amount to your bank balance. Make an entry on the debit side of the cash book for the face of the note ($500), as in transaction No. 14. The following illustrates the form of your entry, though the amount and explanation are different.

May 8	Bills Rec.	Allen's disc.	560
-------	------------	---------------	-----

Make an entry on the credit side of the cash book for the amount of the discount. The following illustrates the form of your entry, but the amount and explanation are different.

May 8	Discount	Allen note 4x.45	445
-------	----------	------------------	-----

In case there is no bank, enter the proceeds in your bank pass book (see model and transaction No. 14, page 77), and place the note in Vouchers for Others.

No. 19.—MAY 8. Make out the bill, checking the items on the order. Verify your calculations and make the proper entry.

No. 20.—MAY 8. Take from your Cash Drawer F. C. Tenney's check in your favor, and enter it upon a deposit ticket. Indorse the check properly (see illustration, page 62), place the deposit slip with the check in your bank pass book, and have the amount entered at the bank. Enter the amount on the stub of your check book and add to your deposit. Make no entry in the cash book.

No. 21.—MAY 8. FOURTH REPORT.

Fill out the report blank, answering the first five questions. Balance your cash book (see model, pages 68 and 69) and see if the amount agrees with your report and also with your bank balance plus the amount in your Cash Drawer, if any. Hand in your cash book, journal, sales book and also all vouchers for inspection.

No. 22.—MAY 9. The invoice of April 30th received from West, Stone & Co. must be paid to-day, if you desire to take advantage of the 3% discount for payment in 10 days.

Take the invoice from you Invoice File and calculate the discount on the amount, $1693.50, at 3%, which is $5x.xx. Deduct this amount from $1693.50 and draw a check for the net amount of the bill. On the stub of the check show the amount of the bill and the discount, as well as the net amount shown by the check itself. You have paid West, Stone & Co. the entire bill of $1693.50, so you may enter on the credit side of your cash book the following.

May 9	West, Stone & Co	Paid bill of $1693.50	1693.50
-------	------------------	------------------------	---------

But West, Stone & Co. have allowed you $50.81 discount for paying the bill within 10 days, which is the same as if you had given them $1693.50 in cash and they had counted out $50.81 of this cash and handed it back to you as discount. Bearing this in mind, you will see that on the debit side of the cash book should appear the following entry.

May 9	Merch. Discount	W. S. & Co. bill $1693.50, 3%	50.81
-------	-----------------	--------------------------------	-------

Merchandise Discount is credited because it has produced value to the business, a bill of $1693.50 being settled for $50.81 less than its face.

Rule 21.—MERCHANDISE DISCOUNT is credited when it is allowed the business by other persons for the payment of a bill within a certain time.

A distinction is made between discount on notes and discount on invoices of merchandise. The former is called "Discount" simply, while the latter is designated as "Merchandise Discount," or "Commercial Discount." The two kinds of discounts are of entirely different characters, and should never be charged to the same account.

In the payment of bills on which commercial (merchandise) discounts are allowed, it is usually customary to have a special column in the cash book in which to enter the discount.

No. 23.—MAY 9. This order calls for your lowest cash discount. Make out a bill at the regular prices, and opposite Terms write, Cash 3%. Enter the sale in the sales book. Do not deduct the 3% discount. You have not yet received your cash; therefore, charge Fletcher Bros. with the full amount, and if they pay the bill within two or three days, allow them the discount, as it is customary to consider such sales the same as cash.

No. 24.—MAY 10. This purchase has been made of Shields Bros., City, by Mr. Adams. Verify the calculations, place the invoice on file, and make the proper entry.

No. 25.—MAY 10. The goods delivered to Fletcher Bros., May 9th, have been paid for, less 3% discount allowed for cash.

The face of the bill is $728.50. Three per cent of $728.50 is $21.86. The bill has been paid in full. Make an entry on the debit side of the cash book for the full amount of the bill ($728.50), writing Fletcher Bros. in the explanation column. Make an entry on the credit side of the cash book for the amount of discount, writing Merchandise Discount in the explanation column. This transaction resembles No. 22, but the conditions are reversed. You receive cash and allow merchandise discount, instead of paying cash and having merchandise discount allowed you.

Rule 22.—MERCHANDISE DISCOUNT is debited when allowed to other persons for the payment of a bill within a certain time.

No. 26.—MAY 11. Dickson & Young hand you this amount on acct., $200 in currency. Place the bills in your Cash Drawer, give a receipt, and make the proper entry.

No. 27.—MAY 11. Deposit $200 currency and the check of Fletcher Bros. in Commercial Bank.

Make a deposit ticket, placing $200 opposite Currency, and the amount of the check opposite Checks. Take the ticket with the cash and the check to the bank, and have the amount placed to your credit. Do not forget to add this amount to the balance on deposit, as shown on the stub of your check book.

No. 28.—MAY 12. Make out the bill and check each item from the order. File the order and make the proper entry.

No. 29.—MAY 14. H. F. Adams draws $100 for private use.

Make a check payable to the order of H. F. Adams, entering the proper explanation on the stub and deducting the amount from the bank balance. Make the proper entry. Get the cash from the bank, but do not put it in the Cash Drawer, as it is not for the business but for Adams' private use. As this $100 is not used in the business you may hand it to your teacher.

No. 30.—MAY 14. When Mr. Adams bought the building #246 Main St., it was insured by the Equitable Fire Insurance Company for $8000. The policy, No. 27614, expired to-day, and you may write a check for $80 to pay for a new policy for the coming year. Do not fail to fill the stub and deduct the amount from your bank balance. Make the proper entry.

In case a large amount of insurance is carried, it may be advisable to open an Insurance account instead of carrying the cost of insurance to the Expense account, but in the ordinary course of business it may very consistently be carried to the Expense account, since there is no return from it.

No. 31.—MAY 15. Make a bill, with the terms called for in the order. Check each item. Place the order on file and make the proper entry.

No. 32.—MAY 15. This check is received on account. Write an acknowledgment of the remittance (see form, page 81) and place the check in your Cash Drawer, making the proper entry. Balance your cash book. Rule and foot, and bring down your balance on the debit side (see form, pages 68 and 69).

No. 33.—MAY 15. FIFTH REPORT. Make your report and see that your cash on hand in the report agrees with the cash as shown by the balance on the stub of your check book, plus the currency and checks in your Cash Drawer, and also see that it agrees with the balance of your Cash account, as shown in the cash book.

Present all books and vouchers to your teacher for approval.

POSTING.

You will post the entries for this month in the same ledger that you used for the April work, beginning on the first blank page, which you will number 1. Number the other pages as the accounts are opened.

At the top of page 1 write H. F. Adams. At the top of page 2 write Merchandise. In the middle of page 2 write Expense. At the top of page 3 write Merchandise Discount. In the middle of page 3 write Furniture and Fixtures. At the top of page 4 write Real Estate. In the middle of page 4 write Discount. In the middle of page 5 write Loss & Gain. At the top of page 8 write F. C. Tenney. In the middle of page 8 write Fletcher Bros. At the top of page 9 write F. H. Randall & Co. In the middle of page 9 write Rice & Pond. At the top of page 10 write E. Mason & Co. At the top of page 14 write Bills Payable. In the middle of page 14 write West, Stone & Co. At the top of page 15 write E. Westen Tea & Spice Co. In the middle of page 15 write Shields Bros. At the top of page 16 write L. Hennes & Co. In the middle of page 16 write Chas. K. Fox.

You may now post your books. Post all entries from your journal as in previous sets.

your trial balance book following your April statement. Do not make a statement of gains and losses, resources and liabilities, as the trial balance is taken at this time merely to show that your posting is correct, and that you understand the posting of the cash book and the sales book.

The Telegram.—The telegram has become an important feature of modern business, and it is now used very extensively in ordering goods for immediate delivery. Most of the telegraphic business of the country is transacted by two companies, the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Postal Telegraph Company. The Western Union has communication with almost every city, town and village in the United States, and through the Atlantic cable, with almost every part of the world.

The charge for a telegram depends somewhat upon the distance, and, except in the case of cable messages, it is a fixed sum for a ten-word message, and an additional charge for each word in excess of that number, no charge being made for the name and address of the person to whom the message is sent or the name of the sender. Night messages, that is, messages sent at the convenience of the Company after 6 P. M., are taken at about half the regular rate, and a large proportion of business messages are of this kind.

In writing a telegram care should be taken to avoid the use of all superfluous words, and yet the message must be clear and definite, that mistakes may be avoided. Figures should be written out in full, since the charge is the same for a figure as for a word; for instance, 20 written in figures (20) would be charged as two words, while written in full (twenty) would be charged as only one word. In sending important messages, those in which a mistake would mean the loss of a large sum of money, it is better in every case to have the telegram repeated; that is, the operator at the point to which the message is sent after receiving it telegraphs it back to the operator at the sending point, and the sender knows that his message has been received as it was sent, which is not always the case, as telegraph operators are only human, and mistakes are by no means uncommon. The charge for repeating a message is one-half more than the original cost.

The cost of cablegrams is a certain amount for each word, and the same charge is made for the address as for the words which make up the body of the message. Business houses generally have a code for cablegrams; that is, the name and address are represented by one word; for instance, Smith, Jones & Robinson, 42 Soho Square, London, E. C., England, would be represented by a single word, as "Extract."

The following form of telegram shows the correct method of writing a message containing figures.

All C. O. D sales should be posted to this account, writing the name of the person to whom goods are sent in the explanation space at the left. The posting should be made immediately after the sale is entered in the sales book.

Some business houses enter C. O. D. sales in a special book kept for that purpose, and do not carry them into the main books until the return has been received. When this return has been received they enter the cash in the cash book, crediting Merchandise.

No. 41.—MAY 21. Take from your Cash Drawer the note of Dickson & Young received May 20th, and write the amount of discount upon a discount memorandum. Take the note and memorandum to the bank, where you will receive credit for the net proceeds, if correct. Enter in your cash book (see transaction No. 18).

Do not enter this in the sales book, as it is not for a regular customer, but carry it direct to the cash book, giving Merchandise credit in that book. Make a memorandum of the sale on a slip of paper, and place it in your Vouchers for Others.

In any wholesale house there will be more or less of these petty sales. They are not entered in the sales book, but carried direct to the cash book.

Do not balance your cash book, but see that the cash balance on your report agrees with the amount of cash in your Cash Drawer, plus your bank balance, and also that this amount is the same as the difference between the two sides of your cash book. Make out a discount ticket for the note of $600 received from A. A. Knowles & Co. yesterday. Calculate the discount and find the net proceeds.

Take the deposit slip, the checks and the note properly indorsed, the currency, the discount ticket, and your bank pass book to the teller, who will give you credit for the deposit and for the net proceeds of the note. Do not fail to enter these amounts on the stub of your check book. Make the proper cash book entry. (See transaction 18, page 79.)

No. 65.—MAY 31. Deposit all cash in your bank. Have your bank book written up, and see that your balance agrees with the balance as shown on the stub of your check book.

No. 66.—MAY 31. Prepare your report and hand in all vouchers to your teacher for approval. Be sure that no careless work is handed in. Balance your cash book and see that the cash balance as shown by the cash book agrees with the bank balance as shown on the stub of the check book.

Some bookkeepers keep a Cash account in the ledger and carry to the debit side the footing of the left-hand page or pages of the cash book and to the credit side the footing of the right-hand page or pages of the cash book. This is unnecessary, since the balance of the cash book itself will show the same result that this account would show when balanced in the ledger. Keep no Cash account in the ledger, but do not forget to carry the balance of the cash book into the trial balance, the same as if the account were kept in the ledger.

Post from all your books to the ledger and check your postings. Be sure that the total of the sales book is carried to the credit of Merchandise. Make out your monthly statement to each customer. Take a trial balance of differences only, and be sure that the balance of cash is entered on the debit side of the trial balance.

Office furniture and fixtures are valued at 10% less than cost.

Office books, stationery and unexpired insurance are valued at $98.75.

Your real estate is valued at cost, as shown by the debit side of your ledger account.

Calculate the amount of your inventory, and write the items and amounts in your trial balance book. After you have taken the trial balance, prepare statements of gains and losses and resources and liabilities, according to instructions below.

In making your statement of losses and gains, include Merchandise Discount and Furniture and Fixtures; in making statement of resources and liabilities, always include all inventories of merchandise, furniture and expense items among the resources.

FORMS OF LOSS AND GAIN STATEMENT AND BALANCE SHEET.

In the previous work the student has prepared simply a statement of losses and gains and of resources and liabilities. This work was designed to familiarize the student with only the fundamental principles of bookkeeping. Now that the student has taken up the study of practical bookkeeping, we have introduced, instead of the elementary statements, the simplest forms of the accountant's regular loss and gain statement and balance sheet. The forms which we present are those which are universally used by experienced accountants and auditors.

The following illustrations differ in many respects from the forms which have heretofore been presented in text-books on bookkeeping, and we believe that all progressive teachers will welcome this change from the theoretical to the practical.

Statement of Losses &

9 Depreciation as under:
10 Furniture & Fixtures			2750
11 Net Gain.			124537

*To be written in red ink.

Analysis of Statement of Losses and Gains.—The loss and gain statement is closed in two sections. The first section represents the gain on merchandise, without taking into account the expenses of the business; the second section contains the expenses of the business, the gain on merchandise discount, and shows the net gain of the business proper. If there are transactions in stocks and bonds, or anything outside of the business, the gain or loss on such transactions should be included in a third section of the loss and gain statement.

On the debit side of the first section of the loss and gain statement, we have (1) merchandise on hand at the close of last month; (2) cost of mdse. during the month. These two items are entered in the first column, added, and their sums extended into the second column. In the above instance there was no merchandise on hand at the close of last month, hence there is no amount after this item.

On the credit side of the loss and gain statement in the first section, we have (3) amount of merchandise sold during the month; (4) merchandise now on hand, as per inventory.

The amounts of these two items are entered in the first column, and their sum extended into the second column. It is evident that the difference between the amount of merchandise on hand at the beginning of the month plus the amount purchased during the month, and the amount of merchandise sold during the month plus that on hand at the end of the month, will be the net gain on merchandise. This net gain in the above statement is found to be $1440, and the amount is written after No. 5, Gain carried down.

In the second section of the statement of losses and gains, we have on the debit side, (6) the cost of expense; (7) the amount of unexpired insurance and stationery, which, paid for under expense, has not yet been used; (8) the loss on discount; (10) the loss on furniture and fixtures on account of depreciation in value.

In the second section of the loss and gain statement, on the credit side, we have (11) the net gain on merchandise, which is written after Gain brought down (that is, this gain is brought down from the first section); and (12) the gain on merchandise discount. The difference between the sum of the debit and the sum of the credit amounts will show the net gain on the business. This gain is written in red ink after No. 13 on the debit side.

When the proprietor examines the above statement, he can tell at a glance the amount of merchandise purchased during the month, the amount of sales, the amount on hand, his gain on merchandise, and his net gain on the business proper; and if he has purchased and sold stocks and bonds, bank stock, real estate, or anything of this character, such transactions should be shown in a third section of the loss and gain statement, and the statement should show the gain on merchandise, the net gain on the business proper, and the net gain or loss on his entire transactions.

A business might be paying, and the proprietor still be losing money on account of losses sustained by outside transactions. The profit on merchandise might be sufficient, and still the business be conducted at a loss, on account of having enormous expenses. For this, and various other reasons, it is absolutely essential that the loss and gain statement should be closed in sections, so that the proprietor may determine at a glance the exact condition of his business.

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE STUDENT.

HOW TO MAKE OUT LOSS AND GAIN STATEMENT FOR THE MONTH ENDING MAY 31.

The numbers given in the following instructions agree with the numbers given in model statement of losses and gains, pages 92 and 93.

1. Turn to the Merchandise account in your ledger. As this is the beginning of the business, there was no merchandise on hand at the beginning of the month, hence nothing will be written after Merchandise on hand at the close of last month, but you may write these words in your statement of losses and gains (see model, page 92).

2. The sum of the items on the debit side of the Merchandise account in your ledger represents the cost of merchandise during the month. Place the amount after Merchandise purchased during the month (see model.)

3. The sum of the items on the credit side of your Merchandise account represents the amount of merchandise you have sold during the month. Place the amount after Merchandise sales during the month (see model.)

4. Take the amount of your inventory and write it after Merchandise on hand now.

5. Take the difference between the sum of the items on the debit side and the sum of the items on the credit side of your loss and gain statement, and write the difference, in red ink, after Gain carried down on the debit side of your loss and gain statement in the second column, after which rule up the first section of your loss and gain statement, as per model.

6. Take the amount of cost of expense, as shown by your trial balance, and write it after Expense.

7. Take the amount of expense as shown by inventory, and subtract it from cost of expense. Extend the difference into the second column (see model, page 92).

8. Take the amount of the loss on discount, as shown by your trial balance, and write it after Discount.

9. Depreciation as under :

10. A depreciation of 10% has been allowed for wear and tear on office furniture. Write the amount of this depreciation, which is a loss to the business, after Furniture and Fixtures, under Depreciation (see model).

11. Bring down the amount of the gain shown in the first section of loss and gain statement, and write it under Gain brought down in the second section of loss and gain statement.

12. Take the gain on merchandise discount, as shown by your trial balance, and write the amount after Merchandise Discount.

13. Take the difference between the sum of the items on the debit side and the sum of the items on the credit side of your loss and gain statement, and write the amount, in red ink, after Net Gain. Rule up the second section of your loss and gain statement, as per model.

Analysis of Statement of Resources and Liabilities.—In preparing a statement of resources and liabilities, commence with the most available asset, Cash. Write the amounts of cash in safe and in bank separately in the first column. Find the sum of these amounts, and write the sum in the second column. (See model, pages 96 and 97.)

Various kinds of property owned by the business should next be listed under the title, Properties as under: Real estate is listed at its ledger valuation, on the presumption that it is worth at the present time the amount paid for it. Naturally there has been wear and tear, or depreciation, upon office furniture and fixtures. The cost of office furniture and fixtures should be shown in the first column, and under this should be written the amount charged off for depreciation. The difference, or present value of the furniture and fixtures, should be extended into the second column. Goods on hand should be inventoried at their cost price, and the amount written in the second column. If there is anything on hand which was charged to Expense when bought, it should be considered an inventory and listed in the second column.

The next title, Sundry trade debtors as under: should include all amounts owing the business by firms and individuals. The amount of notes we hold should be written after Bills Receivable, and the amount due us on account should be written after Open book accounts considered good. Usually an amount is deducted from Open book accounts as a reserve for bad debts. Open book accounts are also frequently divided into two classes—Open book accounts considered good and Open book accounts considered doubtful. If there are any other assets, they should be enumerated in detail on the debit side of the statement of resources and liabilities. In connection with this statement, it is usually customary to make out a list of all persons owing us and all persons whom we owe.

We next proceed to the enumeration of the liabilities. These are written on the credit or right side of the statement. The first title, Sundry trade creditors as under:, should include all persons or firms whom we owe, either by note or on account. The amount that we owe on our notes should be written after Bills Payable. The amount that we owe on account should be written after Open book accounts. If the business has other liabilities, they should be here enumerated. Find the sum of the liabilities, and write the sum in the right-hand column, drawing one red line, as shown in the model.

Next write the amount the proprietor has invested in the business, and from this amount subtract his withdrawal. To the remainder add the net gain from the statement of losses and gains, and extend the total to the last column, in red ink, under the title, Present worth of business. Foot and rule up the statement of resources and liabilities, as per model. A balance sheet or statement of resources and liabilities, made out as above, will show in classified form the actual assets and liabilities of the business. The proprietor of the business, in examining such a balance sheet, can tell at a glance the amount of property he has on hand, and the basis of its valuation, the balance sheet showing any amount that has been charged off for depreciation, or anything that has been added on account of the increase in value. All additions and subtractions should be made in the first column, and only the totals, or the differences, extended to the second column.

1. Ascertain the amount of cash in the safe or drawer, and write it after Cash in safe.
2. Ascertain from your check book the amount of cash in bank, and write it after Cash in bank. The amounts of cash in bank and in safe should be added, and written in the second money column of the statement (see above model). The amount of cash shown by the statement should be the same as that shown on the trial balance.
3. Take the amount of real estate ($12125), as shown by your trial balance, and write it after Real estate, ledger valuation in the second column of your statement (see model form).
4. Take the amounts charged to Furniture and Fixtures, as shown by your trial balance ($231), and write it after Furniture and Fixtures in the first money column of your statement.

8. Take the amount of bills receivable, as shown by your trial balance, and write it after this number.

The sum of the amounts owing the business by the above will be the amount of Open book accounts considered good.

10. Write the amount of bills payable, shown by your trial balance, after this number.

11. Find the sum of the amounts that H. F. Adams owes different persons, as shown by your trial balance, and write this sum after Open book accounts. Find the sum of your Open book accounts and Bills Payable, and write the sum under the single ruled line, as shown in above model.

12. Write the amount of H. F. Adams' investment after this number, according to model. The amount of his investment will be the total of the amounts on the credit side of H. F. Adams' account in the ledger.

13. Write the amount of H. F. Adams' withdrawals after this number. The total of the amounts on the debit side of his account in the ledger will be the sum of the withdrawals. Subtract the withdrawals from the amount invested, and write the difference below the single ruled line (see model).

14. Write the amount of the net gain, as shown by your loss and gain statement, after this number.

15. Add the net gain to the net investment (the difference between H. F. Adams' investment and withdrawals), and write the amount after this number in the last money column. Foot and rule your statement of resources and liabilities, as indicated in model.

Hand your statement of losses and gains and your statement of resources and liabilities to your teacher for approval. If correct, close your ledger, and hand in all your books to your teacher for examination.

EXERCISES IN BANK DISCOUNT AND INTEREST.

Take a sheet of journal paper and arrange a cash book for the following transactions. Write the notes on a sheet of foolscap.

In discounting notes, always find first the due date of the note, then find the actual number of days from the date of discount to the due date, and calculate the discount for this time.

MAY 1.—You have on hand D. H. Farley's note for $1200, dated this day, at four months. Have it discounted at the City Bank at 6%. Write the note and make the proper cash book entries.

MAY 2.—Desiring to borrow money, you arranged with E. M. Parker to indorse a note of $4500 for you, payable at the City Bank in 90 days, and the City Bank has discounted this note and placed the net proceeds to your credit. Write the note and make the cash book entries (see No. 14, page 75).

MAY 3.—You have on hand T. M. Hunt's note for $875.50, dated April 20th, at four months. Have this note discounted at the City Bank at 6%. Write the note and make the cash book entries.

MAY 4.—You have outstanding a note in favor of Reed & Barton, dated April 25th, at three months, for $950, and you pay it to-day less the discount for the unexpired time. Write the note and make the proper cash book entries. (Credit Discount.)

MAY 5.—You have on hand J. B. Freeman's note for $728.50, dated April 5th, at four months. He pays it to-day in cash, less discount for the unexpired time. Write the note and make the proper cash book entries.

MAY 7.—You have on hand C. B. Fenner's note for $1100, dated April 25th, at 90 days. Have it discounted to-day at 5%. Write the note and make the proper cash book entries.

MAY 7.—You have a note outstanding in favor of Charles Langdon for $1200, dated April 20th, at four months. If you will pay it now, Langdon offers to allow you 9% for the unexpired time. Accept the proposition and make the proper cash book entries.

MAY 8.—D. W. Evans & Co. owe you a note of $7000, dated April 30th, at four months. Needing the money, you offer them 8% discount if they will pay the note to-day, which they do. Make the proper cash book entries.

MAY 9.—You have on hand Sam. F. Curtis' note for $1200, dated April 20th, at 60 days, with interest at 6%. You have it discounted at the City Bank to-day. Write the note and make the cash book entries.

The above is an interest-bearing note, and in discounting an interest-bearing note, the bank will first find the amount due at maturity. S. F. Curtis' note of April 20th, at 60 days, will be due June 19th, and the interest on $1200 from April 20th to June 19th, 60 days, equals $12, which, added to $1200, makes $1212, the amount due June 19th. This amount should be written on the face of the note, in red ink, by the bank teller. You have the note discounted May 9th. The bank teller will find the time from May 9th, the date of discount, to June 19th, the date of maturity (41 days), and will compute the discount on $1212, the amount due at maturity, and deduct this discount from $1212, leaving $1203.72, the net proceeds of the interest-bearing note.

In this transaction, you have received $1200 for the face of the note. Debit Cash, $1200; in the first explanation space write Bills Receivable, and in the second explanation space, S. F. Curtis note 4/20. The bank allowed you $12 interest. Debit Cash, $12; in the first explanation space write Interest, and in the second explanation space, on above note. The bank charged you discount, $8.28. On the credit side of the cash book write $8.28, in the first explanation space, Discount, and in the second explanation space, S. F. Curtis note 4/20.

MAY 10.—You have outstanding a note for $1500 in favor of Barnes Bros., dated April 17th, at ninety days, with interest at 5%. Barnes Bros. need the money, and agree to allow you 6% discount if you will pay the note to-day, which you do. Write the note and make the proper cash book entries. (Credit Cash for interest; debit Cash for discount.

In this problem calculate the interest at 5% and the discount at 6%.

MAY 12.—You have on hand the note of The Allen Chemical Company for $2650, dated April 12th, at four months, with interest at 6%. You have it discounted to-day at the City Bank at 5%. Write the note and make the cash book entries.

O. M. Curtis gave you a note March 13th, at 60 days, for $890.75, with interest. The note is due to-day, and Curtis has paid you the amount due to redeem his note. Write the note and make the proper cash book entries.

In the above problem the interest should be found for the time of the note at 6%. In the cash book Cash should be debited for the face of the note, in the first explanation space Bills Receivable should be written, and in the second explanation space, O. M. Curtis note 3/13. Cash should also be debited for the amount of interest on the note ($8.91); in the first explanation space write Interest, and in the second explanation space, on above note.

MAY 14.—Your note for $746, in favor of G. W. Longley, dated Feb. 14th, at three months, with interest, is due this day, and you pay the note and interest. Write the note and make the necessary cash book entries.

This problem is exactly the reverse of the preceding one. Cash is credited and Bills Payable debited, with G. W. Longley note 2/14 as explanation, and Cash credited and Interest debited, with on above note as explanation on the credit side of the cash book.

A. S. Hewitt's note of March 14th, at two months, for $722.87, with interest, is due to-day, and he has paid the note. Write the note and make the proper cash book entries.

MAY 15.—Your note for $1262.25, in favor of L. E. Pearson & Co., dated March 31st, at 45 days, with interest at 5%, is due to-day, and you pay the note and interest. Write the note and make the proper cash book entries.

You have your note for $825, favor E. C. Ayer, and indorsed by him, dated this day, at three months, discounted at the Commercial Bank at 6%, and receive cash for the net proceeds. Write the note and make the cash book entries.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS

The transactions for the month of June call for the handling of drafts, and the business of the month is a continuation of that of the month of May, with the addition of groceries to the tea, coffee and spices dealt in during that period. It is thought advisable to give space for a short discussion of the subject of drafts before the student is called upon to handle that form of commercial paper in his vouchers.

DRAFTS.

A draft is an order from one person or firm to another to pay a certain sum of money, unconditionally, to some person or firm named in the body of the draft, or to the order of that person or firm.

FORM OF SIGHT DRAFT.

In the above draft Chas. Rand orders Wm. French to pay to the order of Adams & Baker $300. It is presumed that Wm. French owes Chas. Rand this amount, and that Chas. Rand is indebted to Adams & Baker, and gives them this order on Wm. French in payment of his indebtedness.

PARTIES TO A DRAFT.

Drawer.—This name is given to the person who writes or draws the draft. In the form of draft given above the drawer is Chas. Rand.

Payee.—This name is given to the person or firm to whom the draft is made payable. In the form of draft given the payees are Adams & Baker.

Drawee.—This name is given to the person or firm on whom the draft is drawn. In the preceding form Wm. French is the drawee.

COURSE OF PROCEDURE WHEN A DRAFT IS DRAWN.

Chas. Rand owes Adams & Baker and wishes to pay them $300 on account. Wm. French owes Chas. Rand and is willing to pay to him, or to his order, $300, therefore the following transaction is carried out: Chas. Rand writes an order, or draws a draft, on Wm. French, requesting him to pay to the order of Adams & Baker $300.

The drawer should, in every case, notify the drawee that he has drawn on him; or, better still, notify him in advance that he will draw on him at a certain date, for no person, even though he be a debtor, is obliged to accept or pay a draft drawn on him by a creditor.

Having drawn the draft, Rand gives it to Adams & Baker and makes his journal entry, since the transaction is completed so far as he is concerned. Rand has given Adams & Baker the order, which will be worth $300 to them when presented to Wm. French for payment; therefore, Adams & Baker should be debited $300, the amount they will be paid. This amount, $300, will be paid by French, therefore French should be credited the same as if he had paid the amount to Rand instead of to the person Rand designated in the draft.

The following is the form of journal entry required in the drawer's books for the above draft.

	Adams & Baker	Drew a sight draft	300
	Wm. French	on Wm. French,		300
		favor of Adams
		& Baker

Rule 1.—The drawer's entry when a draft with three parties is drawn, whether it be at sight or a time draft, is Payee, Dr. and Drawee, Cr.

Payee's Entry.—The payees, Adams & Baker, receive the draft from Chas. Rand, and they at once take it to Wm. French, or place it in their bank for collection, in which case the bank will take it to French, who pays the $300. In either case Adams & Baker have received cash, $300, and should debit Cash. The draft which produced them the $300 was received from Chas. Rand, therefore Chas. Rand should be credited the same as if he had given them the $300.

The following should be the payees' entry on the debit side of their book.

June 1,	Chas. Rand	sight draft on Wm. French	300
----------------	-------------------	----------------------------------	------------	--

Rule 2.—The payee's entry for a sight draft received should be Cash, Dr. and Drawer, Cr.

Drawee's Entry.—When the draft is presented to Wm. French he examines it and notes that Chas. Rand has requested him to pay $300 to the order of Adams & Baker, and if he honors the draft he pays the amount, $300, and since he pays this amount on Chas. Rand's order, he debits Rand the same as if he had paid the cash direct to him and credits Cash, since he has paid it out.

The following is the drawee's entry for the above draft on the credit side of his cash book.

June 2	Chas. Rand	paid dft at sight, A. & B.	300
--------	------------	----------------------------	-----

Rule 3.—Drawee's entry for a sight draft paid is Drawer, Dr. and Cash, Cr.

EXAMPLE.—Edward Martin draws a sight draft on B. W. Hammond, requesting him to pay to the order of Chas. Carter $400, which he does. Write the draft and make the entry of each party to the transaction. Write the draft and the entries on a piece of foolscap paper, and show it to your teacher.

FORM OF TIME DRAFT.

In the above draft instead of being payable at sight, it is not payable until 30 days after its date, or July 2. This draft, as soon as received by the payee, Edward Curtis, should be taken to the drawee, D. H. Parsons, who, if he decides to pay it, will write Accepted across the face, with his name. This is generally done in red ink, though the color of the ink is unimportant. In the case of this draft, the drawer's entry will be the same as in the case of the sight draft, for the payee has received value, and should therefore be debited, while the drawee is to pay the draft when it falls due, and should therefore be credited. The payee, however, instead of receiving cash from the drawee, Parsons, has received a promise to pay in 30 days, for writing the word "Accepted," and signing the name across the face of a draft constitutes at law a promise to pay. A promise to pay is a bill receivable to the holder, therefore his entry should be as follows.

Bills Rec.	Recd. M. F. Archer	900
M. F. Archer	draft at 30 days on		900
	D. H. Parsons

Rule 4.—The payee's entry for a time draft accepted is Bills Receivable, Dr. and Drawer, Cr.

When this draft is presented to D. H. Parsons, and he writes Accepted, D. H. Parsons, across its face, he agrees to pay it in 30 days, and the draft at once becomes a bill payable to him. He should debit M. F. Archer, since it is for him he has assumed this obligation, and should credit Bills Payable, since he has agreed to pay $900 in 30 days, or on July 2. The following should be Parson's entry when he accepts the draft.

M. F. Archer Bills Pay.	Accepted M. F. Archer's dft at 30 days from June 2 favor of Edward Curtis	900	900
--	---	------------	------------

Rule 5.—The drawee's entry for a time draft is Drawer, Dr. and Bills Payable, Cr.

EXAMPLE.—Geo. W. Allen draws a draft on Chas. W. Clinton for $500, at 45 days' sight, in favor of P. Y. Black. Write the draft as accepted by Chas. W. Clinton, and make the journal entry of each party to the transaction.

The draft is used extensively in business for the purpose of collecting accounts that are past due, and instead of the promissory note in ordinary sales of merchandise. In these cases, the draft is made payable to the order of the drawer, and is generally collected through his bank. The following are forms of sight and time drafts drawn in this manner.

FORM OF SIGHT DRAFT.

FORM OF TIME DRAFT.

Rule 6.—The drawer's entry is the same as the payee's, since he is payee as well as drawer; that is, in the sight draft he will debit Cash and credit E. M. Leach, while in the time draft he will debit Bills Receivable and credit E. B. Lacy & Co.

EXAMPLES.—J. B. Flint, of Rochester, N. Y., draws a draft at sight, in favor of himself, on A. H. Hines, of Portland, Me., for $250, and deposits it in his bank. Write the draft and the entries of J. B. Flint and A. H. Hines.

J. B. Flint of Rochester, N. Y., has drawn a draft for $300, at 30 days' sight, in favor of himself, on J. L. Osborn, of Manchester, N. H. Write the draft, properly accepted, and make the journal entries of J. B. Flint and J. L. Osborn.

BANK DRAFT.

In business a large proportion of remittances are made by means of bank drafts, which are accepted as cash. The following is a form of bank draft.

FORM OF BANK DRAFT.

A bank draft, it will be seen, is an order from one bank on another, requesting the payment of a sum of money, unconditionally, to some person or firm named in the body of the draft. These drafts can be purchased at any bank for a small sum in excess of the amount for which they are written. It is the custom of every bank to keep on deposit a certain amount at some bank in the commercial center nearest to its place of business. For instance, all banks in the eastern states will have a deposit with some bank in Boston; all banks in the middle west, with some bank in Chicago; all banks in the southwest, with some bank in St. Louis; all banks on the Pacific coast, with a bank in San Francisco; and all the leading banks in the United States will have a deposit with some bank in New York, since New York is the commercial center of the United States.

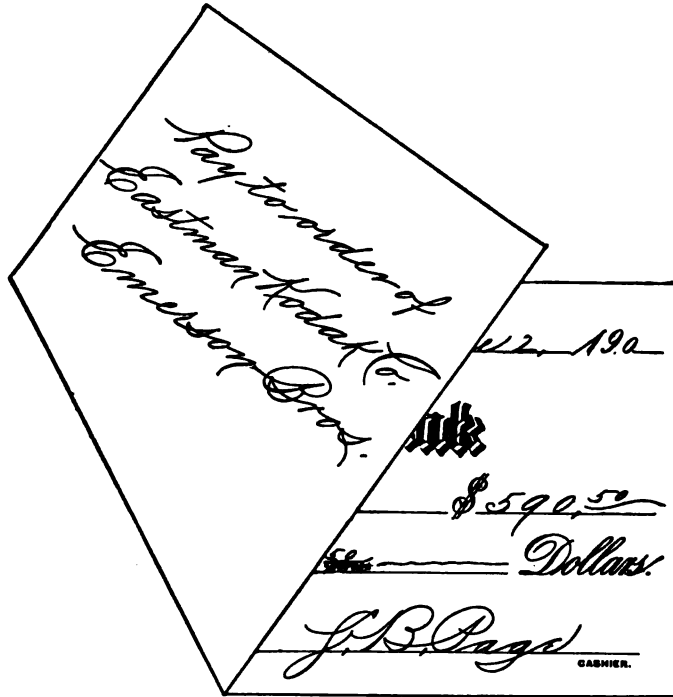

In the case of the draft shown in the illustration, let us suppose that Emerson Bros. of St. Louis, Mo., wish to send the Eastman Kodak Co. of Rochester, N. Y., $590.50, to pay for an order of goods to be shipped at once. If the Eastman Kodak Co. are not acquainted with Emerson Bros., they would probably hesitate to accept their personal check for so large an amount as $590.50, and would delay shipment of the goods until they found out whether the check was good or not; therefore, Emerson Bros. make out a check like the following.

FORM OF CHECK.

St. Louis, Mo. June 2, 190
THE Traders National Bank
Pay to the order of	N. Y. Draft (590.50) Each 50¢ $591.00
Five hundred ninety-one ⁵⁰/₁₀₀ Dollars.
No. 282	Emerson Bros.

Emerson Bros. take the above check to the Traders Bank of St. Louis. The bank will charge a small fee for exchange (in this case 50¢), which is included in Emerson Bros.' check, and will make out a draft similar to the form on page 107. Some business houses have these remittance drafts made payable to the order of the person to whom they are to be sent, but the better way is to have the draft made payable to the order of the sender, who will indorse it over to the order of the person to whom it is sent. When this is done, the draft itself, after it has been presented and paid, becomes a perfect receipt for the amount named in its face. In this case, the draft would be accepted as cash by the Eastman Kodak Co., and they would place it as a deposit in their bank in Rochester. This bank would forward the draft to the bank with which it does business in New York, and it would be presented to the Seaboard National Bank of that city, and that bank would pay it and charge it to the Traders Bank of St. Louis. The following shows the draft properly indorsed.

FORM OF INDORSEMENT.

WORK FOR THE STUDENT.

In the following exercises it is required that the student write each draft, with such indorsements or acceptance as it should bear, on foolscap, and make his journal and cash book entries on a sheet of journal paper.

If the teacher deems it advisable, he may require the student to make the journal and cash book entries of all parties to these drafts.

JUNE 1.—Emmons, Hyde & Co., of Chicago, Ill., have agreed to accept your draft at sight for $600, favor of E. L. Martin. Write the draft and make the proper entry (see rule 1, page 104).

JUNE 2.—Geo. C. Chase, Manchester, N. H., has agreed to accept your draft for $275 at 10 days' sight, in favor of Wm. Darling & Co. Write the draft and make the proper entry (see rule 1, page 104).

JUNE 3.—S. A. Dodge & Co., Millbury, Mass., have accepted your draft for $800 at 60 days after date, in favor of yourself. Write the acceptance and make the proper entry (see rule 6, page 107).

JUNE 4.—John Reynolds & Co., St. Louis, Mo., have agreed to accept your draft for $250 at sight, in favor of yourself. Place the draft in the bank and receive credit for its face. Write and correctly indorse the draft and make the proper cash book entry (see rule 6, page 107).

JUNE 5.—O. H. Waters, Boston, Mass., has agreed to accept your draft for $1200 at four months after date, favor of yourself. Write the draft and have it discounted at the College Bank and the net proceeds placed to your credit. Make the proper cash book entry.

Prepare a discount slip, treating the draft exactly as you would a four months' note of a similar amount and date.

For the above transaction, some bookkeepers would make a journal entry, debiting Bills Receivable (see rule 6, page 107) and crediting O. H. Waters, after which they would make a cash book entry, debiting Cash and crediting Bills Receivable; also crediting Cash and debiting Discount for the discount. But the journal entry is unnecessary, since the bill receivable does not remain in your possession. The better method would be to debit Cash for the amount of the draft and credit O. H. Waters in the cash book, writing draft at 4 mos. in the second explanation column of the cash book; then credit Cash and debit Discount, writing O. H. Waters draft, 4 mos. in the second explanation column on the credit side of the cash book.

JUNE 6.—Wm. Parsons & Co., Worcester, Mass., have drawn on you at sight through the College Bank, for $650. You accept the draft, payable at College Bank, where you have a deposit. Write the draft and acceptance and make the proper cash book entry (see rule 3, page 105).

JUNE 8.—T. W. Preston, Toledo, Ohio, has drawn a draft on you, dated June 5th, at 30 days after sight, favor of himself, for $200. Accept the draft, payable at your office, and make the proper entry (see rule 5, page 106).

JUNE 8.—Ward Bros., El Paso, Texas, who owe you on account, draw a sight draft on Thomas Traynor & Co., Buffalo, N. Y., in your favor, for $300, and you place the draft in the bank with your daily deposit, receiving credit for its face. Write and indorse the draft and make the proper entry (see rule 2, page 104).

JUNE 9.—Fred Kemble & Co., Concord, N. H., owe you on account, and they give you a draft at ten days from date, for $4000, on A. B. Collins, Pittsburg, Pa., to apply on account, which you accept at its face and place in your bank for collection. Write the draft with the proper indorsements, and make the journal entry (see rule 4, page 106).

JUNE 10.—You owe Chas. Farnham & Co. $510 on account, and you give them a sight draft on H. A. Bowen, Portsmouth, N. H., for the amount. Write the draft and make the proper entry (see rule 1, page 104).

JUNE 11.—You owe O. D. Byron $240 on account, and in payment you give him a draft on C. P. Larcum, Syracuse, N. Y., at 10 days after date for this amount. He accepts the draft at its face. Write the draft and make the proper entry (see rule 1).

JUNE 12.—Geo. Farrish & Co., who are indebted to you, indorse over to you a draft drawn by them, in their favor, on Amos Martin, Philadelphia, Pa., for $485, dated June 1st, at four months from date, accepted by Martin. You receive the draft and give Farrish & Co. credit for its face, less discount at 6% for the unexpired time. Write the draft with indorsements and make the proper entry. (Find the due date of the draft, and discount it for the time between June 12th and the due date.)

JUNE 13.—You have in your possession a draft drawn by yourself, June 4th, on J. C. Dennis & Co., Brooklyn, for $915, at 90 days from date, and accepted by J. C. Dennis &

Co. You indorse this acceptance over to J. L. Osborn & Co., who allow you its face, less discount at 6% for the unexpired time. Write and indorse the draft and make the proper entry. (Find due date and discount for unexpired time.)

JUNE 14.—You have the draft of S. A. Dodge & Co., received June 3d, discounted at the College Bank, and the net proceeds placed to your credit. Make the proper cash book entry.

Hand the journal sheet containing the above entries, and the drafts which you have written, to your teacher for examination. Be sure you understand each transaction before proceeding.

NEW BOOKS TO BE USED.

In this month's work you will use, in addition to the books already in use, the invoice book and the bill book.

Bill Book.—This book contains a list and a brief description of all notes which come into the business or which are given by the business. When notes are received or given, the information called for should be written under the proper headings, as shown in the bill book (see model, page 112). This model contains the proper entries for all notes received and given during the month of May. You may copy the entries found in the model bill book into your bill book exactly as they appear in the model. Your bill book will then show all notes on hand and outstanding at the beginning of the month of June.

Invoice Book.—This book is generally made up of the original bills themselves which are pasted in the invoice book, as shown in the model on page 113, and the amount of each invoice is carried into the money column of the invoice book, also shown in the model. When bills are received, after they have been O. K.'d, paste them in your invoice book, taking care that the right-hand edges of the bill do not extend into the money column of the invoice book. In order to avoid this, it may be necessary to trim the edges of some of the bills, for invoices coming from different business houses will not be of uniform size. Paste lightly on the lower edges of the invoice and let them lap over each other, as shown in the model.

It will be seen that the money column of the invoice book should contain the amount of all merchandise bought by the business, and therefore the footing of this money column should be the debit of the Merchandise account. It will no longer be necessary to enter merchandise purchases in the journal, but at the end of the month, or at such periods as may be desired, the footing of the money column of the invoice book should be carried to the debit side of the Merchandise account, and the page of the invoice book carried to the folio column of the ledger, and opposite the footing in the invoice book should be written the ledger page of the Merchandise account. The amount of each bill should be posted directly from the invoice book to the credit of each person or firm from whom the merchandise is purchased, and the page of the account in the ledger should be written on the invoice itself, as shown in the model on page 113.

WORK FOR THE STUDENT.

JUNE.

No. 67.—JUNE 1. H. F. Adams is desirous of adding a line of standard groceries to the Tea, Coffee and Spice business in which he is now engaged. Not having sufficient capital to carry on the business alone, he has sold to you a one-half interest in his business for a sum equal to his net worth at the close of the month of May.

Mr. Adams is to do all the buying for the new firm and also to spend a part of his time as traveling, or outside, salesman, while you are to take full charge of the books and attend to the payment of bills, make all notes, checks, drafts and other negotiable paper of the firm, and attend to the management of the store.

The gains and losses of the business are to be shared equally. Each partner is to give his full time to the business, and H. F. Adams is to draw a salary of $125 per month and you a salary of $100 per month. The firm name is to be H. F. Adams & Co.

Prepare articles of copartnership between the two partners, yourself and H. F. Adams, (see model, page 114). For amount of investment, see H. F. Adams's present worth, statement May 31. Present this copy to your teacher for approval, and make such changes as he may suggest. Copy carefully, in ink, on legal cap, the corrected articles of copartnership and present to your teacher, who will sign for H. F. Adams. Sign your own name below that of H. F. Adams, and affix seals. Ask some student, or your teacher, to sign as witness in the left-hand corner opposite the names of yourself and H. F. Adams.

In business two copies should be prepared, one for each partner, and a lawyer experienced in partnership affairs should prepare these articles of copartnership.

Fold the articles of copartnership twice from bottom to top, and brief them by writing on the outer right-hand corner at the top the following:

*Articles of Copartnership between
H. F. Adams
and
(Student's Name)
June 1, 190-*

No. 68.—JUNE 1. Procure from your teacher $200 in cash and check for the balance of your investment, which will be the same as H. F. Adams's present worth at the end of May. Enter the amount in the cash book on first line below the balance for June 1, crediting yourself for investment.

Write a check in favor of H. F. Adams & Co. for the amount of H. F. Adams's balance in Commercial Bank, as shown by the stub of your check book. Deposit this check and check received from teacher. You will no longer sign or indorse checks and other negotiable paper with your name as attorney, for you are now a member of the firm of H. F. Adams & Co., and have the same right to sign checks and other papers that Mr. Adams has; but, in order that your teacher may be able to identify your work readily, you will write your own name under that of H. F. Adams & Co. on all paper you may have occasion to indorse or sign.

No. 69.—JUNE 1. You will pay H. F. Adams's gas bill for the month of May, $7.87. This bill belongs to last month's business, but it has been agreed that such bills as did not appear on the books shall be paid by the new firm when due.

Write a check for the amount and place the receipted bill in your Voucher File. Place the check in Cash Paid Out. Make the proper entry in your cash book.

No. 70.—JUNE 3. This transaction calls for an invoice of merchandise purchased.

Examine the invoice and see that it is correct. If found to be correct, paste the invoice in your invoice book and write the amount of the invoice in the money column of the invoice book (see model, page 113). No journal entry is required for this transaction for, as explained under "Invoice Book," page 111, all postings are made directly from the invoice book.

No. 71.—JUNE 3. This transaction is similar to No. 70 and should be treated in the same manner.

Examine the invoice and see that it is correct; if so, then paste it in the invoice book and enter the amount in the money column of the invoice book.

No. 72.—JUNE 4. You now take out a policy of insurance on your stock of merchandise for $3000 at 1% premium.

Make a check for the amount in favor of the Equitable Fire Insurance Co. Place it in your Cash Paid Out envelope. Place the policy in your Voucher File, and make the proper cash book entry (see transaction No. 30, page 82).

No. 73.—JUNE 4. You have outstanding a note in favor of L. Hennes & Co., for $1505, which is due 60 days after date, May 2d. This note will fall due July 1st.

As you have money in the bank which you do not need to use in your business at present, you may pay this note. It is the custom in business to allow discount for the unexpired time on all notes paid before due. You will therefore take the note from Bills Payable File and calculate the discount on its amount for the time which it still has to run (from June 4th to July 1st=27 days). Subtract the discount, $x.xx, from the amount of the note, and write a check for the balance. Place the check in Cash Paid Out, and write Paid, June 4, 190-, across the face, and place the canceled note in your Voucher File. This transaction calls for a cash book entry. Credit Cash for the full amount of the note, and debit Cash for the amount of the discount. In your bill book under When and How disposed of place 1505 in the Amount column, June 4 in the Date column, and Discounted in the Explanation column.

FORM OF NOTIFICATION OF DRAFT.

Rome, N. Y., June 1, 190 .

Messrs. White, Smith & Perry,
262 Brown St.,
Providence, R. I.

Gentlemen,--

We have this day drawn upon you at sight, in favor of A. V. Jackson & Co., for $225. Please honor the draft and oblige

Yours truly,
Williams & Raymond.

W.

No. 74.—JUNE 5. You may draw at sight on Rice & Pond, of Georgetown, for $265, which is the amount you owe E. Westen Tea & Spice Co., to balance the account of May 7th.

Write the draft, following the model on page 103. Enclose it with a letter of remittance properly addressed to E. Westen Tea & Spice Co. (see model, page 86). Write a letter to Rice & Pond, notifying them that you have drawn on them at sight for $265, and request them to honor the draft (see model, page 116). Referring to rule 1, page 104, make your journal entry. Place both letters in your Vouchers for Others.

No. 75.—JUNE 5. F. C. Tenney, who lives in your city, has agreed to accept your draft at sight for $90, in favor of C. K. Fox, who also lives in your city.

This transaction is similar to No. 74. Write the draft and place it in Vouchers for Others. Make your journal entry as in No. 74. Why do you make C. K. Fox Dr.? Why do you make F. C. Tenney Cr.?

No. 76.—JUNE 5. This order has been received from your Mr. Adams, and A. W. McKey agrees to accept a draft at 30 days from the date of the sale.

Using the model on page 105 as a form, draw a draft at 30 days for the net amount of the bill, as shown in the right-hand column of your sales book. Do not write Accepted across the face, but take the draft to your teacher, or to the person appointed to attend to such paper, and if correct, he will write Accepted, with the name A. W. McKey, across the face of the draft. When he has done so, place the accepted draft in your Cash Drawer. Make the proper journal entry. What account should be debited, and why? What account should be credited, and why? (See rule 6, page 107.)

Make a bill of the goods ordered, checking off each item on the salesman's order. Enter the sales in your sales book, deducting 1%, and place the bill in your Vouchers for Others.

No. 77.—JUNE 6. This is also a salesman's order from a city customer, and calls for a 3% discount for payment by ten-day acceptance.

Fill the order, verify your calculations, and enter in your sales book, deducting 3%. Draw a ten-day draft on F. C. Tenney for the net amount of the bill and take it to your teacher for approval. If the draft is correct, he will accept it for F. C. Tenney. Place the draft in your Cash Drawer and make the proper journal entry. This transaction is similar to No. 76.

No. 78.—JUNE 6. This invoice has been purchased by Mr. Adams, who has agreed to accept a draft at 10 days, and the draft ready for acceptance accompanies the invoice.

See that the invoice is correctly made, and if the amount is right, then write across the face of the draft, in red ink, Accepted, payable at Commercial Bank, with the date, June 6, 190-, and sign the name, H. F. Adams & Co. Place the draft thus accepted in your Bills Payable File, after you have entered it in your bill book.

Paste the invoice in your invoice book, and at the proper time you will post it from this book to the debit of Merchandise and to the credit of West, Stone & Co. Make a journal entry, debiting West, Stone & Co. for the amount of the acceptance. What account should be credited, and why? (See rule 16, page 30.)

Some bookkeepers would post direct from the invoice book to the credit of Bills Payable, but if this is done the ledger will not show how much business you have done with West, Stone & Co., and it is believed this information is worth more than the trifling addition of time required to post to the credit of West, Stone & Co. from the invoice book, and then post back to their debit from the journal.

No. 79.—JUNE 7. This order has been taken by Mr. Adams, who has received a check for $600, to apply on account.

No receipt is required. Fill the order, checking off each item. Verify your calculations and enter in the sales book. Place the check in your Cash Drawer, and make the proper entry in your cash book.

No. 80.—JUNE 7. Deposit in your bank the check received from A. A. Knowles & Co., and have the two acceptances received June 5th and 6th discounted and the net proceeds placed to your credit.

Your bank pass book should show a separate entry for each of these acceptances. You may also leave for collection the note of A. W. McKey, which is due June 10th. This note should be entered in your bank pass book, but the amount should not be extended into the money column. The following is the form of entry to be made in the bank pass book.

June	7	Note, A. W. McKey,	$700,
------	---	--------------------	--------

See that your notes are properly indorsed and make out a separate discount slip for each of the acceptances. Make cash book entries and entries in your bill book for the two acceptances, but no entry should be made for the note which is left merely for collection. You will be notified when it is paid and the amount will be carried into the money column of your pass book. Do not forget to enter the net proceeds of the two acceptances on the stub of your check book.

Some banks give a receipt for notes and other paper left for collection, instead of entering short in the pass book. Others enter all such paper in the back part of the pass book.

No. 81.—JUNE 7. REPORT. Make out your report and hand it, with Vouchers for Others and Cash Paid Out, to your teacher.

Do not proceed until this report is returned, approved, unless your teacher so directs.

No. 82.—JUNE 8. Pay your bill of June 1st, favor of City Mills Co., deducting a discount of 3%.

Calculate the discount and make out a check for the balance. Fill out a remittance blank, and place the check and the remittance blank in Vouchers for Others. Make the proper entries in the cash book.

No. 83.—JUNE 8. This invoice has been received for goods purchased by Mr. Adams. Verify the invoice and paste it in your invoice book.

No. 84.—JUNE 10. Pay your invoice of June 2d by check, less discount, and make the proper entries in your cash book.

No. 85.—JUNE 10. This order has been received by mail.

Make a bill for the merchandise, checking each item as entered on the bill. Draw a draft, as requested, and leave the draft at your bank for collection, having the amount short-extended in your bank pass book. This draft, when accepted, will become a bill receivable. If you should send the draft to Mason & Co. for acceptance, you would make no entry at the time, but would await its return from them. Instead of doing this you have placed the draft in the bank for collection, which is the ordinary method of handling such paper. As Mason & Co. have agreed to accept it, you may debit Bills Receivable and credit them. Enter the draft in your bill book.

No. 86.—JUNE 11. This order has been handed in by Mr. Adams.

Make a bill, and do not forget to check off the items. Be sure your calculations are right, after deducting 3% discount. Charge Fletcher Bros. only the net amount of the bill entered in the sales book, as you know them and are sure they will pay on receipt of goods.

No. 87.—JUNE 11. This check has been received in payment of merchandise delivered on the same date to Fletcher Bros. Credit them for the amount of the bill, as shown in your sales book under same date.

No. 88.—JUNE 11. This bill is for freight and drayage on all goods received up to date.

You may pay this bill in cash. Place the amount in your Cash Paid Out envelope, and place the receipted bill in your Voucher File.

No. 89.—JUNE 12. On May 5th H. F. Adams borrowed from the bank $5000, to pay for the building and lot, #246 Main St., giving a four months' note for the amount. As the firm now has several thousand dollars in the bank, for which there is no immediate use, it will be well to pay this note, as discount will be allowed for the unexpired time. The note has 85 days to run, and the discount on $5000 for 85 days is $7x.x3.

Make a check for $49xx.x7, take it to the bank teller and receive the canceled note. Make an entry in the cash book and in your note ledger. If no bank is used in connection with these transactions, the note will be found in Bills Payable File. Take it from the file and place the check in Cash Paid Out, instead of giving it to the bank teller. Write, Paid, June 12, 190-, across the face of the note, and place it in your Voucher File.

No. 90.—JUNE 12. This order has been received through Mr. Adams, together with a check for $500 to apply on account. Make the bill and enter in the sales book. Credit F. H. Randall & Co. in the cash book for the amount of the check.

No. 91.—JUNE 13. This invoice has been purchased by Mr. Adams, who has O. K.'d it. Verify the calculations and paste the invoice in the invoice book.

No. 92.—JUNE 13. Take from your Cash Drawer $100 in currency, and also the checks of Fletcher Bros. and F. H. Randall & Co. Deposit these in the bank, and ask the teller if the interest-bearing note of A. W. McKey, dated May 31st, and left by you for collection, has been paid. It has been paid. Therefore, have him place the note and interest to your credit in the bank pass book. On a slip of paper calculate the interest on this note for 10 days, and add the amount of the interest to the face of the note. This is the amount which should be placed to your credit in the bank pass book. If your interest calculation is correct, the bank clerk will give you credit for the amount of the note, which is its face plus the interest. (If no bank is used, enter the amount yourself.) Add this amount to your bank balance on the stub of your check book, and also add the amount of the deposit slip.

You have received $701.17 in cash. Of this amount $700 is for bills receivable, the amount of A. W. McKey's note; therefore, Bills Receivable should be credited $700 in the cash book, with the explanation, A. W. McKey's note 5/31. The remaining $1.17 has been received for interest, and therefore Interest should be credited in the cash book $1.17, with the explanation, on above note.

Rule 23.—INTEREST is credited when it is allowed to the business by other persons.

No. 93.—JUNE 13. Your acceptance of June 3d is due to-day, and as it was made payable at the bank, it should be charged to your account.

Take this acceptance from the Bills Payable File, and present it to the bank teller, requesting him to charge it to your account. He will keep the draft and return it to you canceled when your bank book is written up. If you have no bank, write Paid, June 13, across the face of the draft, and enter it on the credit side of your bank pass book, placing the canceled draft in your Voucher File.

Make an entry in your cash book, to show that the acceptance has been paid. What account should be debited? Why? In your check book on the stub deduct this amount, $1111.62, from the amount on deposit, as shown by the balance of the stub. Why should this be done?

No. 94.—JUNE 14. This order has been sent in by Mr. Adams, who is on an out of town trip. Desiring to take advantage of the discount, Rice & Pond have given him their note at four months, with interest, for $1000, to pay the balance of their old account and to apply on this order. They agree to accept a sight draft for the balance of the order, whatever it may be, or will send check on receipt of bill.

Fill the order and enter in your sales book, allowing them 3% discount. Prepare freight receipts to accompany this invoice. Place the note in your Cash Drawer and make the proper entries in the journal and in the bill book. Do not draw at sight for the balance, but allow it to remain on account.

No. 95.—JUNE 14. This order is from a new customer and is sent in by Mr. Adams, who vouches for the financial standing of the firm. They ask regular ten-day cash discount, and agree to accept a sight draft in ten days.

Make the invoice and freight receipts and draw a sight draft, dating it ten days ahead, or June 24th. Write a letter to accompany the bill, informing Varick & Co. that you will draw on them, as requested, in ten days. Enclose invoice, letter and freight receipt in an envelope properly addressed. Place the draft in your Cash Drawer, and two or three days before it becomes due place it in the bank for collection. You will be informed when to do this.

Many bookkeepers would not draw the sight draft at this time, but would wait until it became due. If a draft is not drawn at the same time a sale is made, it is apt to be overlooked.

No. 96.—JUNE 14. Pay your invoice of June 5th, City Mills Co., $1266, less 3% discount. Calculate the discount, which will be $38.88. Write a check for the amount due. Enclose the check with a remittance blank filled out in a properly addressed envelope, and place in Vouchers for Others. Make the proper entries for the transaction.

No. 97.—JUNE 15. This purchase has been made by Mr. Adams, who, wishing to take advantage of the best discount, agrees to pay spot cash or to give a note with interest. Not wishing to pay cash at this time, you may give a note at 15 days, with interest, for the amount of the invoice. Paste the invoice in the invoice book and make entry in the note ledger. Place the note in Bills Payable File.

No. 98.—JUNE 15. SHIPMENTS. This letter calls for a shipment of merchandise to another person, to be sold on commission, and such transactions are not at all uncommon in business. When, for any reason, goods are not selling well in any particular locality, it is often good policy to send them to a commission merchant in some place where there is likely to be a better demand for them. The commission dealer sells the goods, and after taking a certain per cent for commission, sends the balance to the person who shipped the goods. A quantity of goods shipped to be sold on commission is designated as a "shipment." The shipment is entered in the sales book under the title "Shipment to (the name of the commission dealer)." The shipment is charged for the regular cost price of the merchandise, and if any charges have been paid the shipment is also debited for these in the cash book.

An account is opened in the ledger with each shipment. If two or more shipments are sent to the same person or firm, an account is opened with Shipment to _____ #1, Shipment to _____ #2, and so on, opening a separate account for each shipment sent.

You may send T. W. Bowen & Co., Dover, a trial shipment of 50 brls. Northern Star and 25 brls. Searchlight. Fill out a shipment blank found in your business forms, also a freight receipt, which you will enclose in an envelope addressed to T. W. Bowen & Co. The following is a form showing the proper method of entering a shipment in the sales book.

Shipment E. M. Pace, Chicago, Ill.
50 bbls. White Cloud Flour	4 50	225
100 " Snow Flake "	4 25	425
20 hf. cts. Oolong Tea	10000	50	500	1150

Rule 24.—SHIPMENTS are debited for the cost price of the merchandise shipped, and for all advance charges paid upon it.

Find the cost price from your invoice book.

No. 99.—JUNE 15. You may pay your clerks as follows: R. E. Leavitt, $30; D. J. Allard, $20. As you have not enough money in your Cash Drawer, you may make out a cash check for the amount required, $50. Receive the cash and place it in Cash Paid Out.

If there is no bank, present the check to your teacher, who will give you the money. Make the proper entry for the above transaction.

When cash is drawn from a bank for use in business, what is known as a cash check should be used. Such a check requires no indorsement. The following is a form of cash check.

(Your place here.)		June 15, 190
ALLIANCE BANK

No. 100.—JUNE 15. REPORT. Make out your report and hand it, with Vouchers for Others and Cash Paid Out, to your teacher. Do not proceed until the report is returned, approved, unless your teacher so directs.

No. 101.—JUNE 17. This is a mail order and calls for a small lot of tea, to be followed with a larger lot of goods, to be sent as soon as you are satisfied as to the reliability of the firm, with whom you have had no dealings thus far.

Make out a C. O. D. and enter the sale in your sales book, as in No. 40, page 88. This is a cash sale, and as such it is entitled to 3% discount. Deduct the discount when you enter in the sales book, also upon the bill, which should be for the net amount only.

No. 102.—JUNE 17. You have received but few orders for Ceylon tea recently, so you have decided, with Mr. Adams, to make a shipment of 20 cases of this tea, closing out your stock. Send it, with 10 mats Java coffee, to T. W. Bowen & Co., of Dover, to be sold on commission. Pay freight in advance, $3.60, in currency.

Enter the shipment in your sales book (T. W. Bowen & Co. #2), and make the proper entry in your cash book for the $3.60 paid as freight. What account should be debited for this amount? Why? (See No. 98.)

No. 103.—JUNE 17. This purchase of merchandise has been made by Mr. Adams. Paste the invoice in your invoice book after verifying the calculations.

No. 104.—JUNE 18. Write a check for the amount due Shields Bros., and send it with a remittance blank properly filled out. Make the proper entry.

No. 105.—JUNE 18. This draft has been drawn on you by L. Hennes & Co., and is the amount due for bill of May 24th. You will accept the draft, and place it in your Bills Payable File. What account should be debited? Why? (See transaction, No. 78, page 117.)

No. 106.—JUNE 19. The references given by D. W. Perry & Co. having proved satisfactory, you may fill their order of June 15th. Do not forget to check each item and make the entry required.

No. 107.—JUNE 19. This is a return of C. O. D. sent June 16th. Make the proper entry (see No. 47, page 89). Pay 50¢ in currency for express charges.

No. 108.—JUNE 19. Take from your Cash Drawer the note of Rice & Pond received June 14th, and have it discounted and the net proceeds placed to your credit.

This is a fourth months' interest-bearing note, therefore, on a discount memorandum, write the amount of interest which will be due Oct. 12th, on which date the above note is payable, and add the interest to the face of the note. The interest on $1000 for four months is $20. From June 19th to Oct. 12th, the due date of the note, is 115 days. Calculate the discount on $1020, the amount due Oct. 12th, for 115 days. This amount is $19.55, which subtract from $1020, and you will have the amount to be placed to your credit in your bank pass book and on the stub of your check book.

In the cash book you have received cash for the note, $1000, and also for the interest, $20; therefore, you will have two entries on the debit side of your cash book. What account should be credited for the $1000? Why? What account should be credited for the $20 interest?

On the credit side of your cash book you should place the amount of discount you have allowed the bank, which is $19.55 (see example May 9, page 99).

No. 109.—JUNE 19. In this transaction Randall & Co. have ordered goods and sent you a check sufficient to pay the balance of their bill of June 12th, and part of the merchandise ordered in their letter accompanying the check. They are entitled to 3% discount on such goods as this check will pay for. At 3% discount, 97¢ will pay for $1.00 worth of goods as invoiced at their regular price, therefore it is evident that $600 will pay for as many dollars' worth as 97¢ is contained in $600. $$600 \div .97 = \618.56 , and F. H. Randall & Co. should be credited with this amount. Enter $$618.56$ on the debit side of your cash book, and on the credit side enter $$18.56$, the amount of merchandise discount allowed F. H. Randall & Co. Enter the sale as usual in the sales book. Do not deduct 3%.

No. 110.—JUNE 20. This account sales has been received, together with a check for the net proceeds. It is the amount you have received for the shipment made June 15th, and shows you how much Bowen & Co. received for the goods, also the amount they paid for freight and their commission. What account should be debited? What account has produced value to the business in this case?

Rule 25.—SHIPMENTS are credited with the net proceeds shown on the account sales received from the person to whom the shipment was sent.

Place the check in your Cash Drawer, and the account sales in your Voucher File.

No. 111.—JUNE 20. Take from your Cash Drawer $50 in bills; also the checks of F. H. Randall & Co. and T. W. Bowen & Co. Enter the amounts on a deposit ticket, and take it with the checks and your bank pass book to the bank. Make the proper entry on your check book stub.

No. 112.—JUNE 20. Purchase of merchandise on account by Mr. Adams.

No. 113.—JUNE 20. Pay Reynolds, Davis & Co's. invoice of June 10th, less 2%, by check.

No. 114.—JUNE 21. This bill is for freight and cartage to date. Write a check for the amount, and place it in Cash Paid Out. Place the receipted bill in your Voucher File. What account should be debited for this amount in your cash book?

No. 115.—JUNE 21. Mr. Adams has purchased this invoice and has agreed to accept a draft at 30 days for $800, the balance to be paid in four months. Accept the draft which accompanies the invoice, and place it in Bills Payable File. Make the proper entries in your books for the transaction.

No. 116.—JUNE 21. This purchase is on account. Enter as usual.

No. 117.—JUNE 22. Mr. West, of West, Stone & Co., has called upon you, soliciting orders, and being short of money has agreed to allow you 2% discount on the invoice of May 20th, which is not due until July 19th, if you will accept a ten-day draft. You agree to this proposition, and accept a draft for the amount, less 2%. Place the draft in Bills Payable File. What account should be credited for the 2% discount?

No. 118.—JUNE 22. Smith, Perkins & Co. have decided to retire from business, and have made Mr. Adams an offer of $12\frac{1}{2}\%$ discount from regular market quotations for such goods as he can use from stock. This invoice has been selected on the terms indicated. Write the check and note, and enter in cash book, journal and bill book. Place the check in Cash Paid Out and the note in Bills Payable File.

No. 119.—JUNE 24. Take the sight draft on Thos. Varick & Co. from your Cash Drawer and enter it on a deposit ticket. Take this ticket, with your bank pass book, to the bank, and ask the teller to enter it to your credit. You drew this draft at the time of sale, but made no entry. What account should be debited, now that you have received credit for the draft at your bank? What account should be credited?

It is the custom of most banks to place sight drafts to the credit of responsible depositors, when requested, the same as checks. If not paid, they are charged back to the depositor.

No. 120.—JUNE 24. REPORT. Make out your report and hand it, with Vouchers for Others and Cash Paid Out, to your teacher. Do not proceed until the report is returned, approved, unless so directed by your teacher.

No. 121.—JUNE 24. This account sales has been received from T. W. Bowen & Co., who have placed the net proceeds to your credit subject to your sight draft. What account should be debited for this amount? Why? What account should be credited? Make the proper entry in your journal, and place the account sales in your Voucher File.

No. 122.—JUNE 24. Fletcher Bros., of your city, have been getting 3% discount for cash, but being short of money at this time, they ask you to take their acceptance at 30 days, with interest at 6% added, for the amount of the bill, and still allow them the full amount of the discount. Adding 6% interest to the net amount of the bill will give you, in 30 days, the same amount as if they had paid you cash and you had placed it on interest for that time, so you will accept the proposition and fill the order.

Draw a draft at 30 days on Fletcher Bros. for the net amount of the bill, as shown by the sales book, with 30 days' interest at 6% added. Take the draft to your teacher, who will accept it for Fletcher Bros. if the amount is correct. Enter in your sales book, journal and bill book.

No. 123.—JUNE 24. The draft on E. Mason & Co., at 10 days, left for collection June 10th, has been paid. Have the bank teller enter the amount in your bank pass book. (If you have no bank, enter it yourself.) Make the proper entry in your cash book, and do not fail to add the amount to the balance shown on the stub of your check book.

No. 124.—JUNE 24. Draw a draft at sight on T. W. Bowen & Co. for the net proceeds of shipment No. 2, as shown by account sales of June 22d. Enter the amount of this draft on a deposit slip and take it to the bank with your bank pass book. Have the teller give you credit for the amount of the draft (see No. 123). Enter on the stub of your check book. Make the proper cash book entry.

No. 125.—JUNE 24. This order is sent in by Mr. Adams, and Varick & Co. agree to accept a draft at four months on receipt of goods. (No discount on this order.) Make freight receipt.

No. 126.—JUNE 24. This order is sent in by Mr. Adams, and contains a check for $500, to apply on invoice of the 19th, less 3% for such part of the bill as this check will pay (see transaction No. 109, page 123).

No. 127.—JUNE 25. This acceptance was drawn by A. W. McKey on C. H. Brooks & Co. on June 15th, and was accepted by C. H. Brooks & Co. McKey hands the acceptance over to you; it is not due for 50 days, therefore it is not worth its face, $500, but the discount on $500 for 50 days should be deducted from the face of the paper in order to find out what it is really worth to you on June 25th. The discount on $500 from June 25th to the date at which the draft becomes due, August 14th, 50 days, equals $4.17. Deducting $4.17 from $500 leaves $495.83, the net value of the draft June 25th. Credit A. W. McKey for this amount. What account should be debited for the face of the draft? Why? What account should be credited for $4.17? Why? Make proper entry in bill book.

Enter in your journal.

Rule 26.—DISCOUNT is credited when it is allowed to the business by other persons.

No. 128.—JUNE 25. Ship T. W. Bowen & Co. 100 brls. N. S. flour, 100 brls. Searchlight, 20 hf. chests English Breakfast, 24 hf. chests Oolong, 100 doz. C. corn, 100 doz. C. tomatoes, and pay freight in advance by check, $27. Make sales book and cash book entries.

No. 129.—JUNE 25. Draw at four months from date, on Varick & Co., in favor of E. Westen Tea & Spice Co., for the amount of the bill of the 24th, $510.04. Send it to E. Westen Tea & Spice Co., to apply on account, less the discount for four months.

The draft is not worth $510.04 until it becomes due, four months after date, or Oct. 25th. Calculate the discount for four months, which will be $10.20. The net value of the note at this time, therefore, is $499.84. For what amount should E. Westen Tea & Spice Co. be debited? For what amount should Varick & Co. be credited? What account should be debited for $10.20? Why? Place the draft in Vouchers for Others, and enter in your journal.

No. 130.—JUNE 26. On the evening of June 25th a fire resulted in the partial destruction of the building, #246 Main St., and the total loss of office furniture. The books were saved; also the cash and the contents of safe. Most of the goods were destroyed. From your books you find that you had on hand the list of goods No. 130. This schedule of goods has been carefully made up from your sales book and invoice book, and is believed to be a correct statement of merchandise on hand at the time of the fire.

Fill out the amounts. Sign your own name after that of Mr. Adams. Then hand the schedule to your teacher, who represents the insurance company, and tell him that you present this as your claim for loss by the fire.

No. 131.—JUNE 26. This offer requires the consent of the Equitable Insurance Company before it can be accepted, as no adjustment of the loss has been made. Ask your teacher, who represents the insurance company, for permission to accept this offer. He will write Permission is hereby granted to accept this offer, across the face of the letter from Fletcher Bros., and you may make out a bill of sale for the entire lot without itemizing. Place the check (No. 131) in your Cash Drawer, and make the proper entries.

No. 132.—JUNE 27. Pay invoice of June 14th favor of Geo. C. Buell & Co., less discount, by check.

No. 133.—JUNE 28. Your acceptance of June 18th, favor of L. Hennes & Co., is due to-day.

Take this acceptance from Bills Payable File, and proceed exactly as in No. 93. Enter in your cash book, bill book, and check book. Deduct the amount from your bank balance on the stub of your check book.

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING A STATEMENT OF LOSSES AND GAINS.

JUNE 30, 190-

Using the above form as a model, prepare in your trial balance book a statement of the gains and losses of the month just closed. The names of the accounts used in the model are those of your June accounts, but the amounts are entirely different, and are used only to show you the exact form of a complete statement.

The merchandise on hand at the beginning of the month of June, and the amount of the purchases during the month, will be found on the debit side of the Merchandise account in the ledger. The sales of merchandise during the month of June will be found on the credit side of the Merchandise account in the ledger. This amount includes the amount received for insurance. Find the loss, and close the first section of your statement of gains and losses, bringing down the loss in the second section. Find the cost of shipment to T. W. Bowen & Co., No. 2, from the debit side of that account in the ledger; find the net proceeds from the credit side. Find the value of real estate at the end of May from the statement of resources and liabilities, May 31st. The lot on which your building formerly stood is estimated to be worth $6000. The amount received for insurance is shown on the credit side of Real Estate account in your ledger. The amounts of expense and office fixtures will be found on the debit side of those accounts in the ledger. Net proceeds of shipment to T. W. Bowen & Co., No. 1, will be found on the credit side of that account in the ledger; the cost on the debit side. The excess of merchandise discount will be found by taking the balance of that account, as shown in your trial balance, and the same is true of interest and discount. Write the net loss in red ink, and close the statement of gains and losses.

of your accounts for the month of June, but the amounts are entirely different, and are used merely to give you a complete form.

Cash in bank will be the amount of cash shown in your trial balance; also on the stub of your check book. Real Estate will be shown by your inventory at the end of June, $6000. Bills Receivable will be the balance of that account, as shown in your trial balance. Open book accounts considered good will comprise the accounts of A. A. Knowles & Co., Dickson & Young, A. W. McKey, F. C. Tenney, F. H. Randall & Co., Rice & Pond, Edwin Mason & Co., D. W. Perry & Co., and shipment T. W. Bowen & Co., No. 3, as shown in your trial balance. Bills Payable will be the balance of that account, as shown in your trial balance. Open book accounts will be the balances due West, Stone & Co., E. Westen Tea & Spice Co., Shields Bros., and Smith, Perkins & Co.

Close all accounts in your ledger showing losses or gains; also the Loss & Gain account, and the partners' accounts.

No. 141.—JUNE 30. It has been decided to discontinue the business. You take for your net worth the amount of the shipment to T. W. Bowen & Co., No. 3, at its ledger valuation, $1955, and receive a check for the balance. Make out the check, and enter in the cash book. Make a journal entry to show the transfer of the shipment. Post these two entries and balance the cash book. H. F. Adams retains the remaining resources of the business, you agreeing to make up one-half of any losses which may occur from bad debts, and he agreeing to pay all the liabilities of the business. The real estate is valued at $6000. Draw a check to the order of H. F. Adams for the balance of cash remaining in bank. Indorse this check in H. F. Adams's name to the order of your teacher and give it to him. (No entry.)

Prepare a memorandum of this agreement, and sign it and ask your teacher to sign for H. F. Adams. Get your check cashed and hand the amount to your teacher.

Prepare a notice of dissolution of partnership, according to model (see Appendix), and inclose a copy with your monthly statement to each customer.

Write a letter to T. W. Bowen & Co., Dover, notifying them of the dissolution, and requesting them to send the net proceeds of shipment No. 3 to you when they render an account of sales.

EXAMINATION.

The United States Civil Service Commission in its examinations in bookkeeping requires the candidate to take common foolscap paper and make all rulings required by the transactions. Unless otherwise directed, you may take common foolscap paper and rule properly for the journal, sales book, cash book and ledger, on which to copy the records required in the following series of transactions, which are designed to test your understanding of the principles taken up in the past three months' voucher work. No references are given, as no new principles are introduced.

Your teacher will assign you a selling price list from the Cost and Selling Price Lists, page 132.

Use great care in making your entries, that no mistakes will appear in your work. After your journal, cash book and sales book have been written up, go over the transactions carefully to see that no mistakes have been made. Then post to your ledger and take a trial balance. Using the models on pages 92, 93, 96 and 97, prepare statements of losses and gains and resources and liabilities, and close your ledger, after which present the examination papers to your teacher.

SINGLE ENTRY.

In single entry bookkeeping the ledger contains only accounts with persons, and consequently only such entries as affect personal accounts should appear in a single entry journal; and since there is no equality of debits and credits in single entry bookkeeping, the journal entries will, in most cases, contain only a single debit or credit.

The following is a model of a single entry journal, showing the records which would be made by single entry bookkeeping for the transactions shown in your model journal-daybook on pages 6 and 7.

MODEL SINGLE ENTRY JOURNAL-DAYBOOK.

JANUARY 1, 190-

A. H. Harper,	Cr.		3000
Commenced this day the Flour and Grain business, investing $3000 in cash.
5
J. B. Allen,	Dr.		225
Sold him on account 50 brls. Flour,
	4.50
A. H. Harper,	Dr.		50
Drew cash for private use.
8
J. Grant & Co.,	Cr.		198
Bought of them on account 600 bu. Oats.
	.33
13
J. B. Allen,	Cr.		100
Received of him cash on account.
15
J. Grant & Co.,	Dr.		198
Paid invoice Jan. 8th in cash.
25
J. B. Allen,	Dr.		237 50
Sold him on account 50 brls. Flour,
	4.75

It will be seen, by comparison, that all records of transactions which do not affect personal accounts have been omitted from the single entry journal-daybook; but a cash book should be kept, which may be the same in form as a double entry cash book, or it may be kept like the following model, which records the cash transactions of the model journal-daybook on pages 6 and 7.

A record of notes issued and of notes received should be kept in a bill book similar to the ordinary double entry bill book, and these records, with an inventory taken in the usual manner, will enable the bookkeeper to prepare a statement at any time showing the resources and liabilities, the present worth, and the net gain of the business.

Copy on a sheet of journal paper the journal and cash book models. There will be space on one side of the journal sheet for both models. Take a half sheet of ledger paper and post the journal entries the same as in double entry, opening the personal accounts required—A. H. Harper, J. B. Allen, and J. Grant & Co.

The cash book shows the amount of cash on hand, $2387. The inventory of unsold merchandise, if taken Jan. 31st, would show the following goods on hand: 350 brls. flour, valued at $4 per brl.; 300 bu. oats at 33¢ per bu.; 300 bu. rye at 57¢ per bu.

The bill book, if kept, would show a note for $338, in favor of the business, signed by A. B. Frye; and the following notes outstanding—one in favor of Garland & Co. for $571, and one in favor of B. W. Keene for $820.

The ledger shows that J. B. Allen owes $362.50.

From the foregoing data it will be easy to prepare a statement of resources and liabilities according to the following model.

STATEMENT OF RESOURCES AND LIABILITIES, JAN. 31, 190-.

		Resources.	Liabilities.
Cash	on hand, as per C. B.	$. .
Bills Receivable	" " " " B. B.	$. .

J. B. Allen	owes on account	$. .	$. .
Bills Payable	notes outstanding, as per B. B.		$. .
Present Worth *

* To be written in red ink.

Having found the present worth of A. H. Harper, as above, a comparison of his present worth Jan. 31, 190-, with the amount of his investment Jan. 1, 190-, will show his gain or loss, the same as in double entry bookkeeping. Find A. H. Harper's net gain according to the following model.

STATEMENT OF A. H. HARPER'S GAIN.

A. H. Harper's present worth Jan. 31, 190-	3366	50
" " " investment " 1, 190-	3000
" " " net gain			366	50

Write the statement of resources and liabilities and the net gain on the first blank page of your journal. Carry the net gain to the credit side of A. H. Harper's account in your ledger, the same as in double entry, and hand the journal with your ledger to your teacher for approval.

It is thought the foregoing illustrations will prove sufficient to enable the student to perform the work required in the following series of transactions, using the single entry journal-daybook, cash book and bill book as records of the business.

If A. H. Harper should desire to change his books from single entry to double entry, he should open an account in his ledger with Cash, carrying to its debit side the amount on hand, $2387; also with Bills Receivable, carrying to its debit side $338; with Merchandise, carrying to its debit side the amount of the inventory, $1670; and with Bills Payable, entering on its credit side the amount of the outstanding notes, $1391.

After your papers are approved, make the above entries in the ledger, and take a trial balance, which should give you the following result.

A. H. Harper,			3366	50
Cash,	2387	00
Bills Receivable,	338	00
Merchandise,	1670	00
Bills Payable,			1391	00
J. B. Allen,	362	50

Compare this with your investment, and find your gain or loss for the month's work.
